A HELL-HOLE.

THE LOWEST DEPTHS OF DEGRADATION SOUNDED.

Children Starving to Death While Their Drunken Mother Fights with Her Drunken Paramour—A Case of the Most Sickening Horror.

Yesterday's TIMES contained a horrible tale of degradation and woe. It seemed as though nothing could be added to such a story, save by way of palliation; but thorough investigation yesterday proved that the half of the sickening story had not been told. It is one of the most appalling cases of degradation, sin and misery that was ever brought to light in any land. The reader will remember that at 5:30 p.m. Monday there was a brutal fight outside one of the Mexican shanties back of 154 Upper Main street, and that two men and one woman were arrested and jailed. The woman had a child whose condition was simply indescribable.

A TIMES representative devoted yesterday afternoon to a searching investigation of the case, and unearthed one of the most damnable infamies ever exposed to light.

Readers whose memory for police-court items is good, will recollect that last year THE TIMES brought briefly to public notice some unsavory cases in which the Cowles family was involved. They and their associates are of the lowest class. George Cowles is a cleaner of clothes and hats. His wife is about 25 years old, and shows some traces of good looks, but is of habits indescribable. She had for a lover, who was openly with her, a low brute named Frank Ayers. The first exposure of the nasty nest was about a year ago, when Ayers—following the custom of pimps in general—gave her a fearful beating. She made complaint, and Officer Bosqui—whose unrelenting warfare against the lowest of human brutes has been of great value to the city—finally caught Ayers in the act of fearfully beating the unfortunate though degraded woman. Justice Austin justly sent the brute Ayers up for 200 days.

While Ayers was lying in the old adobe jail another pimp of rather more pretensions, named Jim Spain, got out after serving time for a similar offense. He knew Ayers and had talked the matter over with him in jail. Immediately upon his release Spain went to the woman's house. It is alleged that he then and there attempted to ravish her. He was arrested and tried, but escaped through some laxity.

After that the vile crowd subsided from public view. Cowles resumed the marital relation with his wife, and the strange household resumed its usual ruts. Ayers got out of jail in due time, and also returned to the nest. A child was born—a boy—which was recognized by all as Ayers', Cowles making no claim on its paternity. The "home" of the strange collection of alleged humanity was a two-roomed shanty about 100 feet back from New North Main street, behind the stone-yard which faces the junction with Alameda. That such a place could exist in a city like Los Angeles in the year of grace, 1887, is something to set a lively blaze of thought afire in the heads of good people who are sending their money to help clean well-fed "heathens" 10,000 miles away. Those who have read "Les Miserables" fancy that they have a conception of squalid misery and degradation. Dickens drew agonizingly, if not powerfully, pictures of want and woe. But were Dickens or Hugo or Eugene Sue confronted with that hovel in this summer city they would frankly confess their inability to paint its horror. No hog ever wallowed content in filth so vile; no Dotheboys Hall ever approximated the bestial cruelty there. It is a horror before which heart and tongue are palsied, and thought gropes in vain for utterance.

When Special Officer Wright, of the Humane Society, and the city editor of THE TIMES visited the spot yesterday morning, the disgraceful row which fortunately brought the case to publicity had ended. Ayers had been beating Mrs. Cowles the night before, and in their fight the poor, starved babe—Ayers's babe—was hurt. Pedro Garcia, a Mexican neighbor, had interfered to save the child, and Ayers turned on him. Garcia defended himself in good shape and gave Ayers a handsome beating, but had the top of the middle-finger of his left hand nearly bitten off by the infuriated brute. Both were arrested for fighting, but Garcia was discharged as soon as the facts became known. Ayers was fined $50, and was sent up for fifty days in default of payment. The woman who had also been in the fight was sent up for three days. She told Justice Austin that she was again enceinte—two months gone—though her youngest child is but five months old.

All was quiet, therefore, when the TIMES man and the Humane Society officer revisited the place yesterday. The shanty was locked and no one in sight. Going to the nearest house—that of Chona Lopez, sister-in-law of Garcia—the visitors secured the key and went back to the hovel. When the door was shoved ajar a perfect wave of stench rolled out. It was enough to knock one down, but, holding their noses, the visitors entered. The scene within that den of wretchedness beggars description. The floor was foul as a hog-pen. In various parts of the contracted room stood three huge buckets of human filth. Broken boxes and one ruin of a chair, a wrecked sewing-machine worth probably $3, a few ragged garments fairly alive with vermin and crusted with filth, and a bed—these were the appointments of the room. Such a bed, it is to be hoped, cannot be matched in the whole world. The mangiest cur in Sonoratown would scorn to lie upon its ineffable and infested filth. The thought that six creatures in human shape have been living there fills one with horror. Wirz himself would have relented at putting a prisoner in such a hell.

But there was a more awful sight in the house of Chona Lopez, the good-natured young Mexican woman next door. The secretary of the Humane Society had been on the ground, and had given the Cowles baby into Chona's care until better arrangements could be made. In a pillowed rocking-chair in the corner of the little, dark room lay the child. The visitors drew the curtain and removed the shawl which half hid the babe, and as they did so a growl of horror and rage burst from both. The newspaper man has been for years in a calling to which the ghastliest scenes of life are familiar things. He has seen nearly every conceivable horror—the lowest misery of the great cities, the most horrid forms of murder and of holocaust, gaping wounds and dismembered carcasses—but never a sight before that made his heart stand still as did that. This is a cultured and law-abiding community; but if that poor babe could be shown publicly upon the streets of Los Angeles, there would be a procession of stern-faced men whose work would end only when the authors of that infamy were dangling in the air.

The child lay there colorless as a corpse—and as motionless. The sole sign of life was in the pallid little lips which tugged desperately at the nipple of a nursing-bottle which refused to draw. Now and then the nipple would drop from the mouth, and the little lips would work in a hopeless way enough to break one's heart. The babe was too weak to cry or to reach for the nipple. It was starving to death. Only the last flickering impulse of vitality responded to the incessant, gnawing pangs of hunger. The tiny face was so pinched that the cheeks looked no thicker than paper; the neck was like a child's wrist. The babe, as has been said, was five months old, and tall (or long) for its age—but such a skeleton! Its long, shriveled arms were no larger than the reporter's middle-finger; its wasted legs of no greater circumference than his thumb. The ribs stood out as though the skeleton were but covered with muslin. Starvation was written in every line and angle. The sight is such a one as few have ever seen; and those who have not should be thankful for their good fortune.

Born in shame and amid indescribable filth and bestiality, the babe's little five months of life has been one long, slow starvation. Its drunken and prostitute mother has cared for it less than the she-wolf cares for her young. It had no clothing save a few rags more foul than mind can conceive, and literally crawling with vermin. Its back was a reeking sore, alive with maggots. The two other children, which Cowles fathers, are a boy and girl, aged respectively 5 and 7 years. They also are fearfully gaunt, starved and filthy. What money the drunken brute of a mother has got hold of has gone for whisky. There was not a single slightest crumb of any sort of food in that hovel. That the children have not starved to death long ago is a miracle.

The secretary of the Humane Society bustled around and found a suitable place for the horribly-neglected and dying child. Late in the afternoon the TIMES man called at a neat home—whose location is kept quiet—and found the poor baby washed and in the arms of a bright young English lady of thorough experience as a nurse. She believes that by careful nursing she can bring the little one through alive. It was a strange contrast—the beautiful, plump, womanly face bent over that poor, wasted little form, a hideous caricature on humanity. The babe will be cared for, if it survives the brutality of the past. It has no disease save hunger.

Application will be made in the Superior Court today to have the Humane Society made the legal guardian of the three children, and the case is such a damning one that there can be no doubt of the outcome. If the petition is granted, a delightful country home will be given the unfortunate starvelings, where in fresh, clean surroundings, with abundance of good food and with good training they can forget the horrors of their childhood. The children are absolutely destitute of clothing, and happy parents who have to spare can do a worthy deed by contributing cast-off garments. They can be left with the secretary of the Humane Society, Dr. Dorothea Lummis, 347 Fort street, or will be called for if a note is sent her.

Warrants were sworn out yesterday against the brutal parents for cruelty to children. Cowles will come up before Justice Austin to-day, and his wife will be arrested on the same charge as soon as her three days' sentence for disorderliness is out.

QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

Arrangements Progressing for Its Proper Celebration.

A largely-attended meeting of the general committee appointed to arrange for a celebration of the Queen's Jubilee was held last night at the office of the British vice-consul. The following gentlemen were added to the committee:

T. W. Todhunter, John S. Stower, Robert Renshaw, H. J. Stewart, C. J. Fox, H. L. Macneil, Dr. H. Worthington, H. Nadeau, R. S. Den, C. F. Gillingham, L. W. Wells, F. P. Howard, Gen. D. Remick, Los Angeles; the president and secretary of St. George's Society, the president and secretary of the British Benevolent Society, the president and secretary of the Caledonian Society, the president and secretary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians' Society; Capt. E. P. Tompkinson, Sierra Madre; Rev. A. G. L. Trew, San Gabriel; James Boyd, Riverside; Dr. J. G. Bailey, Santa Ana; Mr. Patrick Robertson, Santa Monica, and Mr. Campbell Johnston, Eagle Rock.

The committee decided that the celebration should take the form of a ball and the members of the committee present agreed to guarantee all expenses. It was also decided to arrange for a permanent memorial, to which all subscriptions should be entirely devoted, and to print subscription cards, to be prefaced with the names of the committee and the amounts of their several subscriptions. Sub-committees were appointed to report in regard to the ball, and the committee then adjourned to meet at the same place, on Thursday, the 14th inst., at 7:30 p.m.

TRINITY CHURCH.

The Entertainment Given There by James G. Clark.

A goodly-sized audience assembled in Trinity M. E. Church at 8 o'clock last evening, for the purpose of hearing the song recital to be given by Prof. James G. Clark, who is sojourning in the city.

The first selection was entitled, "The Promised Land of Tomorrow." This and the original piece, "The Isles of the Sweet By and By," were rendered by Prof. Clark in a very effective manner.

The selection, "Leaving, Yet Loving," was sung by Miss Hance, with whose excellent vocal talents all are familiar. "We've Drunk from the Same Canteen," by Prof. Clark, and "The Old Farm Gate," sung by Prof. Stone, followed, and also the Scotch ballads, "The Land of the Leal," "Bruce's Address," "John Anderson, My Jo."

An original poem, entitled "The Mount of the Holy Cross," was read by the Professor, who sang by request, "Rain on the Roof." These and several other renditions of like nature were given. Prof. Clark has a peculiarly simple and impressive voice, and one that holds the sympathy and attention of his audience from beginning to end.

A FALL IN GROCERIES.

Two Merchants Have a Lively Scrapping Match.

D. Wagner, the Spring-street grocer, used to believe in the good old saying, "The early bird catches the worm," but he changed his mind early yesterday morning, and it is doubtful if he will ever use the quotation again. He rose bright and early yesterday morning and was near his store when he was met by F. S. Gillam, another merchant. Gillam had bad blood in his eyes, and Mr. Wagner saw at a glance that the European seat of war had been changed to Los Angeles.

"You have been trying to get one of my clerks away from me," said Gillam. Wagner denied that he had attempted to do anything of the kind, when Mr. Gillam led out with his left and brought Mr. Wagner one on the left cheek. Mr. Wagner did not take the advice of the good book and turn the other also. No; he went down on the sidewalk, and when he attempted to rise Gillam led out again and the blood flew from a wound in the side of the fallen man's head. At least he so testified before Justice Taney yesterday morning when the case was called. Gillam denied that he struck Wagner more than once. He pleaded guilty, and the Justice fined him $30, which he paid at once and walked out of court, seeming well satisfied with the fun he had enjoyed.

ONCE MORE.

Horace Bell Tackles Another Criminal Libel Suit.

B. A. Stephens, editor of the Pomona Progress, who has been arrested on complaint of Maj. Horace Bell three times, and charged with libel, was again arrested yesterday. The complaint alleges that on the 10th of last March Stephens published these words in his paper, the Pomona Progress: "He is now" (meaning Bell) "suing Louis Messmer for blackmail money." Deputy H. S. Clement arrested Stephens in this city yesterday morning, and took him before Justice Taney, who allowed him to go on his own recognizance. Bell has made threats that he proposes to bring a libel suit for every clause in the celebrated Bell pamphlet, and it would appear that he has made up his mind to keep the ball rolling. Stephens's case was set for May the 5th.

It was moved and seconded that Mr. Loomis be appointed an officer on the regular police force of this city in place of D. Lynch. Carried.

MARINO LEYBA.

THE BANDIT OF THE SANDILLAS AND HIS DEATH.

The Worst Man in New Mexico Dies with His Boots On—One of Potter's Murderers, and a Desperado All 'Round.

Two years and a half ago a representative of THE TIMES was in the little mining camp of Golden, N. M., on the home-stretch of a pedestrian tour across the continent. While there he became acquainted with the terror of the camp—a burly, beetle-browed Mexican, known as Marino. He was a desperado of the most remorseless class, and had more than one life marked against his account, and he was known to have been one of Col. Potter's murderers. Always heavily armed, possessed of enormous muscular strength, he was feared throughout a country whose inhabitants are no chickens themselves. At a subsequent visit last fall, THE TIMES man found Marino employed at the Golden quartz-mill, and the same evil character as of old.

The Associated Press dispatches three or four days ago announced briefly the death of Marino, the worst man in New Mexico. The Santa Fé New Mexican gives the following graphic details:

The body of Marino Leyba, the notorious bandit of the Sandillas, and the last member of Billy the Kid's gang, whom Gov. Ross pardoned out of the penitentiary July last, was brought in from the southern part of the county at 7 o'clock this morning. He was captured by deputy sheriffs, in the mountains seven miles west of the village of Golden, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. At 6:30 last evening Sheriff Chavez, while preparing to start out a third time in search of this red-handed villain, received a telegram from Cerrillos announcing that his deputies had captured Leyba and had been compelled to shoot him. Half an hour later Deputy Sheriffs Joaquin Montoya and Carlos Jacome dashed up to the Sheriff's office and had a long conference with that officer. At 10 o'clock Sheriff Chavez boarded the train for Cerrillos, where he took charge of Leyba's remains and landed them at the county jail at 7 o'clock this morning.

"WITH HIS BOOTS ON,"

WHY HE WAS WANTED.

"Marino," as he was familiarly known and called, was wanted on several charges, and it was thought if he could be taken on these his connection with several dark deeds could be easily proven. The first charge was for carrying concealed weapons, for which he was under indictment by the last grand jury, and the second was for resisting a county officer. This latter allegation grew out of his supposed complicity in the brutal murder and arson at the Leckey ranch, when on the 4th inst. Joseph Leckey, Julian Tessiere and Juan Trujillo were robbed and murdered, and their ranch home near Chilili, in Bernalillo county, was burned, together with Leckey's body. Circumstances pointed directly to the fact that Marino and Porfidio Trujillo and Ricardo Valdez, his horse-thief companions from Las Vegas, who are now in the San Miguel county jail, were the

PRINCIPALS IN THIS CRIME.

Marino, however, swore he would kill the first man that attempted his arrest, and, vicious enough for the past two months, he seemed thereafter to become more brutal than ever. During the past thirty days he has terrorized the people of northern Bernalillo and southern Santa Fé counties. He made the Sandilla Mountains his haunt, and frequently sallied forth to "shoot up the town," carousing and drinking and gambling, and threatening to kill any man who declined to do his bidding. At San Antonito, Las Placitas and other small villages along the foot of the Sandilla Mountains, in Bernalillo county, at Chilili and Golden and San Pedro, the people were at his mercy. At Golden, two weeks ago, he openly proclaimed his intention to murder R. W. Webb, Sam Baldwin, Richard Giblin and others who were members of the coroner's jury in the Lackey ranch cases; he rode through the town in firing his six-shooter, and at the muzzle of his weapon forced several of the merchants of Golden to close up their places of business and conceal themselves in their homes.

Several posses were sent out to capture him, but failed to ascertain his whereabouts. For two weeks Sheriff Chavez searched for him and sent his deputies in every direction. Last week Manager Metcalf, of the Circle ranch, near Chilili, telegraphed that Marino was was in the Manzana Valley, eighty miles south of Santa Fé. At that time Sheriff Chavez was in the Sandilla Mountains, but as soon as he heard of it he sent a posse of men to Manzano and he and a party came up to Cerillos. From there another party circled the foothills, but still Marino eluded them. On Monday night Sheriff Chavez came to Santa Fé on other business, directing his deputies not to cease their search till Marino was taken, dead or alive, and last evening he was preparing to make a third and final search for the outlaw when the news of his death came to hand.

HIL LAST SHOT.

Joaquin Montoya and Carlos Jacome, deputy sheriffs, whom Sheriff Chavez had commissioned to "lay for" Marino in and about Golden, were riding in the timber, seven miles west of town, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when Jacome spied their man coming down a mountain trail on horseback some 300 yards across the gulch and ahead of them. Jacome, who knew Marino well, was commissioned by Montoya to ride ahead, ascertain positively if it was Marino, and, if so, to engage him in conversation. Marino had some months previously proposed to Jacome to go to Mexico and organize a banditti for operating on the border, and when the two men met and the usual "como le va, amigo," was passed, Jacome began discussing the proposition to go to the frontier, when Montoya came in sight. Marino turned quickly to Jacome and said: "What are you doing here?" At the same instant he sprang from his horse and stood with his two hands across his stomach in such a position that his hand rested on his six-shooter. He wore a belt, but had no scabbard, and the weapon was pushed through the belt and held in place immediately in front of him after the most approved frontier style. He eyed Montoya suspiciously, and when the latter rode up and extended his hand, Marino with his right hand and proffered his left to greet Montoya. Said the latter: "Don't draw your gun; give me your right hand; we shall not harm you, but you must consider yourself our prisoner." At this Marino uttered a vile oath, drew his six-shooter, and each of the three men fired at the same instant. Marino fell forward between the two horses dead. Only the three shots were fired. Marino's bullet grazed the left side of Montoya's head and cut a three-inch hole in his broad hatbrim.

GRASPED HIS REVOLVER

Marino's remains were taken to Golden, where they were received with great excitement and a genuine spirit of relief, and thence they were brought through Dolores and shipped from Cerrillos to Santa Fé.

Upon arriving here Sheriff Chavez had the body stretched out on a table in the jail hall, and during this forenoon fully 2000 people flocked in to view the corpse. Marino was rather a fine-looking man, with dark blue eyes, black hair and a reddish black moustache. His age was 28 years; height was a little over six feet and his weight about 180 pounds. He was dressed in a blue shirt and woolen pants, over which he wore an overall suit. When killed he had on a belt in which were nineteen cartridges and in his pocket was found a deck of monte cards. His revolver is a Colt's "frontier," 45-caliber. There is some question as to which of the two officers fired the fatal bullet, but Sheriff Chavez concludes that Montoya's shot did the work, as the ball entered at the left front of the head and ranged downward, which would be the natural result of Montoya firing while on horseback at Marino, who stood on the ground with the two officers at the front and on either side of him.

MARINO'S CRIME LIFE.

Marino was a native of Bernalillo county; he married a woman who had some interest in the Tejon grant, and made his home at San Antonito, at the base of the Sandilla Mountains. He has been known as a horse-thief since he was 18 years of age. The first crime of note with which he is believed to be connected was the murder of Col. Potter, of the United States geological survey, in the fall of 1880, which created such widespread comment throughout the Union and at Washington. Col. Potter was stationed temporarily at Albuquerque, and started on horseback to make a report on the San Pedro Mountains. Coming up Tijeras cañon he halted at noon to inquire as to the road and took dinner at California Joe's cabin. Marino and four other men were there and cooked up the job with California Joe to rob and murder Potter. Marino mounted a burro and started up the road about the time Potter finished his meal, and when he asked again as to the route he should take, California Joe pointed to Marino and told him to take that road, as the man was going the same way. In the meantime the other three men had mounted horses and disappeared. Col. Potter caught up with Marino, who led him off on a side road where the three murderers were concealed. There, after for his life against such heavy odds, having his horse shot from under him and receiving a shot in the back, at the hands of Marino, it is now generally believed, Col. Potter had his brains clubbed out by this gang, who covered the remins of himself and his horse with brush and burned them. Months after Col. Potter's watch and a piece of his uniform gave the then Sheriff of Bernalillo county, Perfecto Amijo, a clew, and the arrest of California Joe and three of his accomplices followed. One of these men was lynched at Bernalillo and the other three met a similar death at Albuquerque, one confessing the deed. Marino escaped into Mexico, and returning two years later, joined Billy the Kid's gang in Lincoln county. He was too shrewd, however, ever to be caught in any of that gang's active operations, but rather layed around small villages playing monte and serving as a spy for them, occasionally stealing a horse and selling it to keep himself in pocket-money. Once when Capt. Pat Garrett was in search of Billy the Kid, Marino attempted to throw him and his official posse

OFF THE KID'S TRAIL.

Sheriff Garrett suspected Marino's connection with the gang, but he had no positive evidence and did not wish to arouse any suspicions; but this bold bluff of the shrewd fellow exasperated him and he knocked Marino down with his six-shooter. The outlaw fell back upon the ground and was unable to get up, but nevertheless he had hardly struck the earth before he had his weapon out and was firing a volley of lead in the direction of the Sheriff. None of the bullets took effect, however, and afterwards Capt. Garrett feigned to make friends with Marino in order to keep closer to the real movements of the Kid. In speaking of Marino, Capt. Garrett has often declared him the quickest man with a six-shooter he ever came across on the frontier.

When the law made it too hot for the Kid, and the death of that noted outlaw became only a question of a short time, Marino again pulled out for the Mexican border. He next showed up in the Pecos River region, and while stealing a number of horses was captured, and, from the San Miguel county District Court, was in 1883 sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary. Two years of this time he served in Kansas, and after the territorial convicts were brought to Santa Fé, he served two years more, when

GOV. ROSS PARDONED HIM OUT.

In connection with this pardon, a writer in one of the Bernalillo county papers alleges that Marino sold his ranch on the Tejon grant, receiving therefor the sum of $1400, and somehow or other this money had something or other to do with the man's pardon.

Marino is said to have freely talked over his plans while in the penitentiary here, and it is claimed his chief purpose in laying about Golden was to waylay some of the miners on their way to Santa Fé to deposit their gold-dust or bullion, and thus make a raise that would enable him to get into Mexico.

The officers and the people generally feel certain that he instigated, if not acting as principal, in the terrible affair at Leckey's ranch. The fact, that the house was robbed and burned after the three men had been killed is regarded as Marino's special plan of work, and quite on a par with the tragedy in which Col. Potter was the victim.

Marino's remains were buried in potter's field this afternoon. His wife followed the body to Cerrillos yesterday and endeavored to induce the officers to turn it over to her, but they informed her that the remains must be brought to Santa Fé.

WHAT IS IT?

AN ALLEGED MULE GIVES BIRTH TO A LIVELY FOAL.

And Now the Naturalists Are Questioning Whether Nature Has So Far Forgotten Herself as to Make a Hybrid Productive.

A TIMES reporter was met Saturday afternoon by a stranger, who informed him that a fine mule mother was looking after the wants of her 24-hour-old baby colt, on the corner of Seventh and Los Angeles streets. The reporter thought at first that the gentleman had lost a day and was trying to play an "April fool" joke, but he was soon convinced that he was thoroughly in earnest, and true to the news-gathering instinct the reporter was soon dashing out Main street at break-neck speed. When he reached Seventh he turned to his left and was soon in the neighborhood described by the gentleman. He could not discover a house that looked as if its owner was the happy possessor of a kicking mule. He asked several persons if they had heard of such a thing as a mule mother, and they looked at him in a pitiful tone of voice, which plainly said, "Poor fellow, he is losing his mind." But the reporter did not give up. He walked down Seventh street until he came to Myrtle, when he was rewarded by seeing a sad-eyed mule quietly grazing in front of a new house in the middle of a vacant lot. There was no sign of life about the place with the exception of the mule and a very young colt. The reporter leaned over the fence and gazed in open-eyed astonishment at the ugly, misshapen little thing as it tugged at the mule's dugs. The mother gazed fondly around at her offspring, or whatever it is, and lovingly caressed its back. The two strange animals were in the front yard, and as the reporter stood and looked at the two a man appeared at the door and said:

"You seem to be interested, sir."

"Is that mule the mother of the colt?" asked the scribe.

"Yes, sir. It was foaled night before last. I knew that the mule was with foal, but I did not think it was to come so soon. You see, I bought that mule from a gentleman at the Ballona about seven months ago. The mule had been running out in a pasture with a number of horses and a stallion. I did not know that she was with foal for some time after, and I was not certain of it then, but during the past month I have been as positive of it as possible. Less than a week ago a man here in town offered me four horses for her, but I would not take anything for her. When I got up Thursday morning I was surprised to find that little shinny in the yard tugging away at the mule's dugs. No, there was not a mare within ten blocks of her that I know of. I was afraid she would kill the colt, for you know that it is mule nature to kill a colt on sight. Well, sir, you never saw anything go through fences like that mule did. When she came to a fence that she could not break down with her breast, she actually turned around and kicked it down. I don't propose to separate them again. Three or four horse doctors have been here today, and they can't account for it. People have been coming and going all day, and I have answered questions until I am tired. No, the mother does not give milk enough and the horse doctors advise me to feed her on mash, and give the colt some cow's milk for a while."

The colt is a very light sorrel, and has very peculiar ears. They are much longer than an ordinary colt's and turn in like a goat's. It is at least two inches higher behind than in front, which is exactly opposite to the general rule. It belongs to George Welch, who lives at the southeast corner of Seventh and Myrtle streets. Mr. Welch is a hard-working man and he has an honest face. He told the reporter that he never saw a horse half as gentle as his mule, and to prove his statement he brought one of his his little 4-year-old boys out and said: "Tom, go and milk Katie," and the little fellow pushed the colt away and got between the mule's legs, when he began to tug at her dugs. She made no resistance whatever.

If Mr. Welch's statement is true, the colt is a remarkable freak of nature. The mule, like all other hybrids, is supposed to be hopeless of progeny. Although all concerned are keen to swear that the animal is straight mule, the probability is that she is a "jenny," or female ass.

Queer Fish in the Social Swim.

[Boston Herald.]

It is impossible to glance at the lists of people who are present at some of the entertainments given by the new rich in New York without feeling that some awfully queer fish come to the surface in this so-called society pond. It is not democracy that rules in these circles, but a desire for notoriety—to see their names in the newspapers—that induces both men and women to make this splurge, but which has no more real social distinction than the downstairs festivities of one's domestics. People of no social nor artistic standing drift into these houses, and, being well-dressed, they pass muster among the guests. Third-rate artists, in the elated reporter's vision, lend brilliancy to these gatherings, and shady titles stir him to enthusiasm over the beauty and splendor of the occasion. Perhaps it is a musicale, perhaps a reception—it makes no odds if there is only a jam, a fine supper and plenty of champagne. But to those who chance to know who is who, the glowing descriptions read like a chapter of Thackeray's "Book of Snobs."

The Future of Plymouth Church.

[Springfield Republican.]

Plymouth Church, therefore, must go on, because it cannot stop. It is the religious home of a large congregation, and must continue to be. It is not likely to find another Beecher for its head; it may have ill-fortune in filling the vacant pulpit. It may, in time, suffer division and diminution, but such a fate is not necessary, and hardly probable, though this will be the common disposition of it at first thought among men. Large bodies require great motive forces and strong centripetal centers. The next pastor of Plymouth need not be a Beecher, but he should be a man of power, of broad and sunny horizon, and of clear insight into the walks of mankind, reaching up to the divine things with one hand and holding hard to the humanities with the other. In this way may the church be perpetuated as a living power for good—the best monument of its founder.

FLORIDA AND CUBA.

Some Delusions About Flower-land Laid Bare.

[Havana Letter in Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.]

My experience with Florida is that something is always happening here that never happened before and will never happen again. You are always being assured that you must not judge Florida by what you see, or hear, or feel, because it is "most extraordinary," and was never experienced before.

For instance, I have never been in Florida yet in the so-called balmy summer time of February or March, or even April, without striking some very damp, cold and disagreeable weather. Cold, wet weather in a land without fireplaces or fires is a nasty thing, and I have many times ejaculated in connection with Florida weather in a style both emphatic and impressive. And yet, upon every occasion of the sort I have had the stereotyped assertion dinned into my ears that the weather was extraordinary, quite unusual, never known before, etc.

The way the simple-minded Floridans stand by each other in endeavoring to keep up this delusion is worthy of all praise.

The plain fact is that the weather in Florida has as disagreeable features as it has anywhere else. The sole thing that can be said for it as against the North is that the season is a little more advanced in Florida than in Maine, yet it is not so much more advanced as one would expect from the difference in location. The attraction to Northerners is not half so much in the climate or the weather as in the fruitage and vegetable kingdom. What charms and lures the northern person is the palmetto, the oleander, the orange and lemon groves, the figs, the cocoanut, the banana and the pineapple, the magnolia, the sapadillo, the moss draperies of the cypress and live-oaks and the song of the mocking bird. And yet all these things are upon a small scale compared with Cuba, except the orange.

Another Observer's Views.

[Extract from a private letter.]

Your reference to Florida reminds me to say that I am not one of those who think that the sun only shines for that section of the world. Unfortunately for that State, about the only thing that will grow in that sandy soil is the orange tree. The soil, in the greater portion of the State, is sand, and without a generous importation of northern fertilizing material, would not even bring this fruit to perfection. Had Florida the wonderful soil of your Southern California country, upon which, I believe, you can grow about all of the cereals, and many of the tropical and sub-tropical fruits, then you might fear its genial climate and productive capacity as a dangerous rival. Its productions are now, and always will be, limited, in my estimation, to a few of the more watery fruits and vegetables. Its air, however, is delicious and balmy. Its greatest advantage is its nearness to the older States of the Union. A thirty-hour ride from Washington will take you to the center of the State, and twenty-four hours to many of its most important winter resorts; and the cost is necessarily much less than to Southern California. This enables thousands of moderate means, in time of sickness or prostration from business cares, to avail themselves of its wonderfully recuperative breezes, who could never afford to go to the shores of the Pacific. It is no place for a poor man. It takes a small lifetime to grow an orange grove, and any other industry there is not sufficiently proven to be ventured upon unless one is prepared to suffer the misfortune of misdirected effort. Although it is among the oldest States of the Union, yet, paradoxical as it may appear, I believe it is the youngest now in all those essentials which contribute to the elevation of humanity. I don't think I shall ever make it my home, but as a resort for occasional relief from overwork, I hope to breath its balmy air many times again.

In Grief for Otter Belt's Death.

[Fort Worth Gazette.]

Up on Beaver creek, in the Nation, the other day, old Otter Belt, one of the greatest of the Comanche chiefs, succumbed to the grim reaper Death, and it was all in his honor. He knew he was going to die, and just five minutes before he breathed his last they held him aloft and rigged the old chief out in his best war costume. They painted him as red as a sunset, set his war-bonnet on his head, tied up his hair in a beaver skin and then laid him down just as his spirit winged its flight. Otter Belt, while a good man for a Comanche, was rather inclined toward the doctrines of Brigham Young, only he contented himself with a less number of wives—in fact, limited himself to five. The way these squaws took on when the chief was no more was a sight never to be forgotten. Taking sharp butcher-knives they slashed their faces with long, deep cuts till they were covered with blood. They also cut themselves in other places, and they beat their bleeding bodies and pulled their hair, all the while uttering the most doleful and plaintive cries. They then burned everything they had—their two two tepees, furniture, clothing and all—even the biggest part of the clothing they wore. There was a big crowd of the bucks present at the obsequies, of course; and, as is the Indian fashion, they slew ten head of horses in honor of Otter Belt's memory.

THEY do say the ticket scalpers must go.

THE Labor party gets a black eye in Milwaukee.

HIGH license in Red Bluff is paralyzing the saloons.

MICHIGAN stands up to be counted on the Republican side.

THERE is an enormous putridity stirred up in the fraudulent land cases now unearthed in San Francisco.

POOR LO has much to answer for, but not heretofore for embezzlement. Now a noble Red Man has skipped with $20,000.

SAN FRANCISCO is having some small-pox of her own to attend to now. The diphtheria and the smallpox will make a rather "binding" mixture.

ALERT Councilmen believe they detect a robust Hottentot in the woodpile of the Kuhrts-street bridge. Well, dig him out, gentlemen, whoever owns him.

THE local columns of THE TIMES this morning contain a graphic account of one of the most fearful cases of degradation, neglect and cruelty to children ever brought to light. It is comforting to feel certain that the children will be rescued, and the brutes who have starved them punished.

THE Pacific Fruit Grower is a new monthly horticultural publication issued in Los Angeles, by Reymert & Brook, the latter an aforetime member of THE TIMES staff. The initial number, just published, is filled with excellent matter in the line of its specialty, and presents a neat letterpress, with fresh, handsome illustrations. The title-page, with its ideal California home, on a sloping foothill, with mountain background and distant ocean view; with vineyard, hedge-row, banana, cocoanut palm, fan palm, and semi-tropical parrots in the foreground and middle altitude—is enough to make the frost-tortured Easterner pack his gripsack and come away between two days. If the new magazine continues as it has started, it will deserve and command success.

Truly Flamboyant.

The San Francisco Examiner, which sent a special train down to Monterey, freighted with momentous reporters, to work up an account of the burned hotel, describes the feat in the words and figures of speech given below. Compared with this phenomenally robust and virile writing, the efforts of the Ahkoond of Swat are as the glimmering moonlight to the full glare of the midday bonfire. The Examiner says:

Here, drawn up at the platform, panting with madness to be free, was the huge locomotive, the mightiest, stoutest engine on the road.

And needs it must be for the herculean task before it.

The onyx lumps of coal rose high above the sides of the tender waiting to feed the insatiable hunger of the fires.

The engineer, a tried and famous veteran in his line, stood with the lever in his sinewy grasp, like a weather-beaten captain at the ship's helm.

By his side rose the brawny fireman, his swelling muscles to be stretched and straining presently with feeding the iron monster.

THE START.

Into the car climbed the reporters.

A hand waved hastily the signal from the platform, a sob burst from the great, trembling engine, as if in suppressed agony at the work before, and then the titanic driving-wheels bowed over to the track.

As leaps the arrow from the bow, or as the rocket spurns the earth, so the meteor-like bolt of steam and steel pierced the cold morning air, quivering and shrieking as it sped.

"CLEAR THE TRACK."

The word had fled the wires from town to town, "Clear the track!"

The Examiner special has the right of way.

Local trains must stand aside to let it freely pass. There must be no delay. Against the locomotive's side was flung a white ribbon emblazoned with "Examiner."

And then the train skipped right down to Monterey and the reporters got the news.

AMUSEMENTS.

NANON AT THE GRAND OPERA-HOUSE. The Carleton Company was honored with a crowded house last night, and the performance of the favorite opera of Nanon was received with demonstrations of hearty applause sufficient in genuineness and liberality to satisfy the most exacting. The opera was presented with the same cast as when last given here, but it is safe to say that the company has never given it more to the complete satisfaction of a critical audience than it did last night. The leading singers were in their best voice, and Mr. Carleton especially outshone himself. The character he assumes seems to fit him to perfection, and he both sings and acts with an ease and grace which justify "Nanon's" admiration. Miss Rice makes the sweetest hostess of the "Golden Lamb" which the stage can produce. Greensfelder's rich bass voice is heard to great advantage as the "Abbé Choiseul," and he has toned down some of the extravagances with which he formerly adorned the part. Charles H. Drew made all his funny points with telling effect. His humor is broad, but does not descend to coarseness. As a low comedian he may be considered the best that has been seen on these boards. Miss Alice Vincent, as "Ninon de l'Enclos," was charmingly statuesque in appearance, and her singing was well received. In passing, it may be remarked that both she and Miss Wisdom persist in speaking of the scapegrace Marquis as "Honray," which is hardly correct.

The whole performance was given with the vigor and correctness which is characteristic of this company, and the stage effects of costume and grouping were very beautiful. A calcium light was used for the first time last night, throwing its rays from the balcony, and lighted up some of the tableaux in brilliant style.

Between the acts Mr. Carleton made an announcement that the matinée today will give the last opportunity of seeing the company in Nanon here, as he intends to fill its place in his repertory with a new opera; also that The Mikado, to be presented tomorrow night, will be illustrated by new scenery painted in San Francisco from Japanese views obtained on the spot. Mr. Carleton thanked the people of Los Angeles in his felicitous style for their patronage, and retired amid loud applause.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

Meeting of the Stockholders and Directors Yesterday.

A meeting of the directors and stockholders of the Times-Mirror Company was held at the office yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the expiration of the first year of the present organization's full control. The president, Col. H. G. Otis, presented a comprehensive report, in writing, of the company's operations during the year past, showing progress made and substantial results achieved. His report set forth, among other details, the more important enterprises undertaken and carried out by the company during the twelve months ended March 31st. The principal of these are the addition of new printing machinery and materials to the value of over $8000; the putting on by THE TIMES and The WEEKLY MIRROR of new suits of type; the enlargement of THE TIMES; the extension of its valuable telegraphic news franchise by the Associated Press for six years from the 1st of September next; and the construction of the new Times Building, built of granite and brick, three stories and a high basement, on the northeast corner of First and Fort streets—the structure being now well along towards completion. The volume of business done by the company during the year was stated to be in the neighborhood of 40 per cent. greater than the figures for any previous twelve months, and the outlook reported as highly encouraging.

The treasurer, Albert McFarland, presented to the board detailed statements of the business accounts, showing a sound and healthy condition of affairs, with figures illustrating the steady growth in all departments of the business.

The secretary, William A. Spalding, produced his record books, showing the transactions of the year properly recorded.

Further improvements in the working facilities of the establishment have been determined upon, to be carried into effect in good time.

The present board of directors and officers were continued in their respective places. They are as follows: President, Col. H. G. Otis; vice-president and treasurer, Albert McFarland; secretary, William A. Spalding. Directors, the above-named and Dan McFarland and Mrs. Eliza A. Otis.

An Embezzler.

Last Thursday a stranger drove up to Noyes & Dennis's and offered to sell them a pair of bay horses and a spring wagon. After some talk the firm gave him $200 and a mule for the outfit. In the afternoon he came back and said the mule did not suit him. They gave him a gold watch and a few dollars for the mule, and he disappeared. It now transpires that the team was stolen in San Bernardino. The thief has not yet been caught.

Was He Bought Off?

The Burns thimble-game swindling case was called in Justice Taney's court yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, but the prosecuting witness failed to appear, and the case was postponed indefinitely. The officers are on the lookout for him, and as soon as he is found the case will be tried.

Cleaning Chinatown.

Mayor Workman visited Chinatown yesterday, and found that sweet-scented portion of the city in a most filthy condition. He put four special officers to work, and if there is any law in the land, he will have the place cleaned up on short notice.

A False Alarm.

The alleged smallpox case, Mr. Day, from East Los Angeles, who was taken to the hospital and placed in the tent for suspects, proved nothing more serious than erysipelas, and has been sent back home.

IS IT A STEAL?

The Kuhrts-street Bridge Contract Making a Row.

There has been a good deal of talk in the Council and on the streets during the past few days about a contract for building a bridge across the Los Angeles River at what is called the Kuhrts-street crossing, which was let to the San Francisco Bridge Company by the Council two or three meetings ago. The talk grew out of a bitter fight made against the letting of the contract by Councilman Stearns, and also from the fact that the Mayor refused to sign the contract when it was sent to him by the Council. He based his objections to the signing on the grounds that he has been informed that the bridge can be built at a much lower figure than that fixed by the Bridge Company. In conversation with a TIMES reporter last night, the Mayor said:

"I have refused to sign that contract, on the grounds that I have heard on good authority that there exists a job put up by the San Francisco Bridge Company and other bridge companies to swindle the city. Builders have offered to construct the bridge according to the plans and specifications now in the City Hall for just $3000 less than the bid by the San Francisco Bridge Company. I sent the contract back to the Council yesterday and a committee was appointed to investigate the matter, and if they find it as reported to me the contract will be declared off and new bids will be received. All the members of the Council are good men, but they have been duped, according to all indications. Councilman Stearns has taken a deep interest in the matter."

Blew His Brains Out.

Frank Watson, of Pomona, who only come to that place a few weeks ago, got on a spree and blew his brains out with a pistol Monday morning. He has no friends on the coast, and it is not known who his relatives are in the East. An inquest was held and he was buried yesterday. He was not over 25 years of age. Whisky caused it.

For the Election.

The Herald is mistaken in asserting that no ballots have been sent here for the special amendment election. County Clerk Dunsmoor has 10,000 ballots in his office, and will send them out with polling books, etc., to every voting precinct in the county by Wells, Fargo's express today.

An Aggregation of Rottenness.

DENVER, April 5.—The Sixth General Assembly adjourned sine die at 2 o'clock this morning. The only business of importance transacted was the passage of the Anti-royalty Bill, which prohibits irrigating ditch companies charging farmers royalty for the privilege of using water from the canals. Most of the remainder of the ninety days was occupied in wrangling over appointments and investigating charges brought against a member by an employé. The Assembly is generally condemned by the people of the State, and a prominent paper, speaking upon the subject, says: "This Legislature will pass into history as the cheapest, most worthless aggregation of rottenness and stupidity ever assembled under the dome of the capital of any State."

Smuggling on the Rio Grande.

GALVESTON, April 5.—A special from San Antonio to the News says: "Upon telegraphic order from Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild, 150 mares seized here by Federal officials as contraband have been released, the parties being allowed to pay duty. Smuggling had been carried on for months on a gigantic scale by prominent stockmen residing in this city and other points, who made affidavits that the stock was for breeding and not for speculating purposes, thus avoiding payment of duty. No sooner were the mares on this side of the river than they were driven or shipped to different points and sold at big profit."

Sensational Divorce Case.

DENVER, April 5.—A sensation was created in social circles today by ex-Gov. Gilpin filing an application in the County Court for divorce, alleging that inhuman treatment by his wife, together with her extravagance and ungovernable temper, makes life to him a burden. He further alleges that his wife entered into a conspiracy to take his life and get control of his property and children, whose affection she has estranged from him. Mr. Gilpin prays for a separation and the custody of his three children. Mrs. Gilpin filed an answer denying all the charges made by her husband. Gov. Gilpin is 74 years old. His wife is 50, and they have been married thirteen years.

Given Up for Lost.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The British tramp steamer Carmona, which left Barrow, England, February 13th, has not yet arrived, and is given up for lost with all hands on board. She had a full cargo of steel blooms, consigned to a firm in Pennsylvania. The vessel was commanded by Capt. J. A. Holcrow and had a crew of thirty-three men. The Carmona was a three-masted, schooner-rigged vessel and hailed from Dundee, Scotland, where she was built in April, 1881. William Thompson owned her. The vessel and cargo were valued at $300,000, and are fully insured.

A Strike at Boston.

BOSTON, April 5.—An extensive strike of stone-masons and their laborers and mortar-mixers in this vicinity has been inaugurated. Quite a large body of men are involved. The object of the strike is to obtain nine hours per day with the same rate of wages as is paid for ten hours. This strike is aimed principally at those contractors who are not members of the Master-builders' Association or the Mechanics' Exchange Association, the strikers being willing to accept the terms offered by those connected with these associations.

Five Negroes Lynched.

COLUMBIA (S. C.), April 5.—News just received from Yorkville announces the lynching of five negroes there at 4 o'clock this morning. The men murdered a boy last December who informed on them for stealing from the fields. They were brought to Columbia some time ago for safety, and went to Yorkville yesterday for trial.

The Liquor Question at Hollister.

HOLLISTER, April 5.—The Board of Town Trustees passed the liquor ordinance last night fixing the license at $300 a year, and repealed the ordinance of $600 passed last May. All liquor dealers of the town are under arrest since last June. Their cases are now pending, with small hopes of any convictions.

Jumped His Bail.

NEW YORK, April 5.—W. A. Clark, registry clerk in the general postoffice of this city, who confessed to the theft of $10,000 in bills recently and who was released on $2500 bail, has skipped to Canada. He had confessed to stealing about $25,000 altogether.

Saloons Closed.

RED BLUFF, April 5.—Ten saloons in Red Bluff, besides others in Tehama, Vina, Corning and Paskenta, closed their doors yesterday, consequent upon the high license. A combination is in existence to fight the law.

Still Another Land Fraud Arrest.

SACRAMENTO, April 5.—J. W. McGinnis, a clerk in Surveyor-General Reichert's office, was arrested today in connection with the fraudulent land survey cases. He was released on a $2500 bond.

EASTERN ELECTIONS.

Chicago's Stinging Rebuke to Anarchy.

The So-called United Labor Ticket Beaten by 30,000 Majority.

Women Cast Their Ballots Throughout Kansas in Large Numbers.

Republicans and Democrats Combine and Defeat the Labor Ticket in Milwaukee—The Polls in Wisconsin Besieged by Woman Suffragists—Other Elections.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The day was clear and cold, and reports from nearly all the wards indicate that a very large vote was polled. The contest was between the Republican and Labor candidates. Very few Prohibition votes were cast, although the Prohibitionists had ticket-peddlers at nearly every poll. The polls opened at 6 o'clock, and the greater portion of the Labor vote was polled during the early hours. At 9 o'clock reports from the various precints showed that from one-fourth to one-half the entire registered vote had been cast.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Ninety-three precincts out of 339 give Roche (Rep.) 10,128 majority over Nelson (Labor). Present indications are that the Labor party has only carried one ward in the city. It is possible that the head of the ticket has been carried by the Republicans by 25,000 to 30,000.

CHICAGO, April 5, 8:40 p.m.—With twenty precincts yet to hear from Roche's majority is 29,400.

One hundred and seventy precincts out of 339 gives Roche 20,600 majority over Nelson (Labor).

CHICAGO, April 5.—It is reasonably certain that the united Labor party has elected two Aldermen and nothing else.

THE SOCIALISTS BADLY BEATEN.

CHICAGO, April 5.—At 10:35 p.m. the count was closed for the night. Corrected returns from all but three precincts place Roche's majority at 28,166. The so-called United Labor party polled today just one-half the number of votes its leaders predicted three nights before. Robert Nelson, their candidate for Mayor, distinctly declared for the red flag. He said in public that if the Sunday-school children could march in procession with their chosen banners and no American flag, he saw no reason why the workingmen, if equally orderly, could not do the same even if the color of the banner was red. Since then the campaign has been fought solely on that issue and the result is a surprise to every one, Socialists and anti-Socialists alike. Two United Labor aldermen are the only successful candidates of that party. Their general ticket is beaten by a majority of nearly 35,000 votes.

SCENES AT THE POLLS.

Throughout the day the Republicans and their Democratic allies industriously distributed flaming dodgers presenting the issue of the election as the American flag against the red. The United Labor party endeavored to meet this with an equally highly-colored circular charging that Roche was an Orangeman. The plan failed signally, and one of the characteristic incidents of the day was the arrest in the Fifteenth Ward by Officer John Ryan of Herman Greenmeyer, a German Socialist, for too obtrusively circulating anti-Roche circulars. The arrest nearly led to a riot, but Greenmeyer was released on promising to desist. Similar scenes were enacted in other wards, and have led to the charge by the United Labor leaders of unwarranted interference on the part of the police. The Republicans made a clean sweep with their city and town tickets, except that Samuel B. Chase, Democratic candidate for Assessor of the North Town, pulls through. The Democrats elected one Alderman, James T. Appleton, in the Second Ward.

ONLY ONE SOCIALIST ELECTED.

CHICAGO, April 5.—At midnight the returns showed that the United Labor party has elected one man on their entire ticket, Conner, their candidate for Alderman in the Fifth Ward. His majority is less than 400. The total vote for Mayor stands: Roche (Rep.) 51,089 votes, Nelson (United Labor) 22,482; Roche's majority 28,607.

AN ELECTION MURDER.

In a row late tonight, growing out of a too enthusiastic celebration of the Republican victory, a young man named Crowe was fatally shot by a bartender. The bartender was promptly arrested.

WISCONSIN.

Women Try Hard to Vote—The Labor Ticket Defeated.

MILWAUKEE, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] In many cities of the State, by preconcerted arrangement, the ladies in bodies went to the polls and offered to vote, claiming to be entitled to do so by an inference conveyed by the recently-enacted law allowing them to vote in school affairs. In Sturgeon Bay one of them voted, but elsewhere their ballots were refused. In Delavon eighty prominent ladies marched to the polls in the morning in procession. A lively discussion followed, speeches being made for and against the right to vote. After considerable excitement the board refused to accept the votes of the ladies. The polls were blockaded until after 12 by ladies who persisted in offering their votes. A test case will be made and carried to the Supreme Court.

Reports from the interior cities are meager. Columbus, Delavon and Tomaha have elected Republican mayors. In Depre the fusion of Republican and Democrats won over the Labor party. Kenosha elected a full labor ticket.

LABOR PARTY BEATEN AT MILWAUKEE.

MILWAUKEE, April 5.—The political campaign which culminated today has been a memorable one. The contest was between the Fusion (Democrat and Republican) and the People's (Labor) party for Circuit and Superior Court judges and ward representatives in the Common Council. The only State election today was for Associate Judge of the Supreme Court. Harlow S. Orton (Dem.) was reëlected without opposition. Milwaukee county voted on Judge of the Circuit and Judge of the Superior Court. The Democrats and Republicans placed a fusion ticket in the field against the Labor party. At 10 o'clock tonight twenty-five city precincts have been heard from, giving D. H. Johnson (Dem.) and George H. Noyes (Rep.), Fusion judicial candidates, 1140 majority over the Labor candidate. Seventeen additional precincts will probably neutralize this majority, but seven towns of the county will go strongly for the Fusion candidates, who are probably elected by 2000. The Labor party will elect about half the Aldermen and one-third of the Supervisors. Both bodies will probably be Democratic, as two-thirds of the Aldermen hold over.

MILWAUKEE, April 5.—At midnight all but one city and four town precincts had been heard from, giving the Citizens' ticket 800 majority over the Labor ticket. The Labor ticket carried the city by 150. The Unionists elected 15 out of 25 Aldermen.

Eau Claire and Racine elected Citizens' tickets against the Knights of Labor candidates.

In Whitewater the Democrat-Labor combination won, and Madison went Democratic, Senator Conklin being chosen Mayor without opposition.

MICHIGAN.

The Republicans Successful—Doubt as to Prohibition.

DETROIT (Mich.), April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] It is certain that Long (Rep.) is elected to the Supreme Bench by a handsome majority. He runs ahead of Campbell, also Republican, in nearly every polling place. Campbell is probably elected by a majority a third less than Long, and the Republican regents have also been successful. The country has gone strongly for Prohibition, but the returns are not yet sufficiently definite to say whether the country has been able to wipe out the majority against the amendment in the cities.

DETROIT, April 5.—10:30 p.m.—The latest figures on the election place the Republican plurality on the State ticket at 5000, while on the Prohibition amendment, the opposition majority will be about 3500.

DETROIT (Mich.), April 5.—Returns from yesterday's election are slowly coming in. It being settled that the Republican State ticket has been elected by about 10,000 plurality, interest centers on the Prohibition amendment. The Evening Journal says it is defeated by 8500 majority, and others claim that the majority will reach 10,000, but the Prohibition committee still claims the adoption of the amendment. This claim is based on the fact that all cities have been heard from, while the country districts, where the movement had the greatest strength, have not been fully reported. All figures so far received on the amendment are partly estimated, and little confidence can be placed in them, although it seems probable that the amendment is defeated by a small vote.

This evening the Prohibitionists claim that frauds were committed against them in several wards of this city, and say that several precincts will be contested. It is asserted and known that Prohibitionists were prevented from voting, that ballots for the amendment were destroyed, that opponents of that measure were allowed to vote several times, and that votes against the amendment were purchased.

KANSAS.

Women Vote in Large Numbers—The Republicans Win.

KANSAS CITY, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Scattering returns from Kansas indicate that the municipal elections in general passed off quietly, and as far as can now be judged, the introduction of female suffrage does not work a great change in the character of the result. In some cities and towns women availed themselves quite generally of their newly-acquired privilege. The effect of the experiment cannot be divined as yet. The issues involved, however, are local. At several points women were elected to membership on the school-boards.

TOPEKA, April 5.—At midnight only a small portion of the vote was counted, but enough to show that the whole Republican ticket is elected. The women who had registered mostly voted, and generally as their husbands' did.

FORT SCOTT, April 5.—The entire Republican ticket was elected today. The women turned out in large numbers. There were only two tickets, Democratic and Republican. The election was quiet.

ATCHISON, April 5.—The Republicans elect Mayor Kelsey again, and their entire ticket. About 300 women voted, the majority supporting House (Dem.) for Mayor.

OHIO.

The Republicans Carry Cincinnati by a Slender Majority.

CINCINNATI, April 5.—The complete count for Mayor shows Smith (Rep.), 17,963; Matson (Dem.), 11,951; Stevenson (Labor), 17,367; Smith's plurality, 596. The pluralities of other Republican candidates are as follows: F. N. Moore Judge of Superior Court, 1050; T. F. Harstman, City Solicitor, 1880; A. F. Bohrer, Treasurer, 2863; J. A. Caldwell, Judge of Police Court, 4949; H. J. C. Schwartz, Prosecuting Attorney of the Police Court, 3450; Emil Rohse, Clerk of the Police Court, 1928. The footings for Councilmen and members of the Board of Education have not yet been made out. Indications are that the Republicans will have a plurality in both boards, if not a majority.

Unofficial returns for ward officers shows the following result: Councilmen, 13 Republicans, 9 Labor, 3 Democrats; Board of Education, 15 Republicans, 8 Labor, 2 Democrats. One cause of this is that the Third, Fourth, Ninth and Twenty-first wards, hitherto strongly Democratic, and the Tenth, Eleventh, Twenty-second and Twenth-fourth strongly Republican, were carried yesterday by the Labor party.

IN OTHER STATES.

Close Contest in St. Louis with Probable Democratic Success.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Incomplete returns from seventeen wards at 11 o'clock tonight indicate that the Democrats have a majority in both houses of the municipal assembly. The vote does not seem to have been as heavy as was expected. The contest has been close in most wards and districts but there is scarcely a doubt that the Democrats have gained a victory.

KANSAS CITY, April 5.—Henry C. Kumpf (Rep.) was reëlected Mayor of this city today by a good majority.

THE ELECTION AT HELENA, MONT.

HELENA (Mont.), April 5.—The municipal election yesterday resulted in the election of Steele (Dem.) for Mayor by 250 majority. The Democrats also elected the Police Magistrate and two Aldermen. The Republicans elect the Treasurer and five Aldermen. The Democrats gain one Alderman and the Mayor.

REPUBLICANS WIN AT DENVER.

DENVER, April 5.—Five municipal tickets were in the field today: Republican, Democrat, Independent Democrat, Labor and Prohibition. A very large vote was polled, especially by the Labor party. The Democrats held their own, notwithstanding the split in the party, but the indications at 8 o'clock are that the Republicans elected Lee Mayor by 1000 to 1500.

THE OPIUM HABIT.

It Ends the Lives of Two Prominent Persons.

NEW YORK, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Francis Garry Fairfield, clergyman, journalist, author of a work on spiritualism and a veterinary surgeon, died early yesterday morning in the Southern boarding-house, from the effects of the opium habit. While he was on his death-bed his wife, Josephine, daughter of Judge Griswold, of the United States District Court, and sister-in-law of Bret Harte, died from the same cause in the boarding-house, 27 Stuyvesant street, and her body was sent to the morgue. He did not know of her death and their relatives were not aware of it until her body had been sent to the potter's field for burial. Several years ago Fairfield became addicted to the use of morphine and his wife fell into the same habit. They had no children and they lived in a boarding-house, avoiding wealthy and influential friends.

Terrible Accident in a Coal Mine in Indian Territory—Sad Fate of a Rescue Party—Eighteen Men in All Lose Their Lives.

By Telegraph to The Times.

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.), April 5.—[Special.] Last night at Challinder, a Mexican burglar named Ramon Zulenon attempted to enter the residence of Mr. Zeal, a well-to-do storekeeper of that village, but the proprietor, being awakened by the noise made by the burglar, drove him off by firing his pistol in the direction of the noise. In a short time the burglar returned, and making another attempt was again driven away. He then returned a third time, and broke in the window with a miner's pick. Mr. Zeal, then thoroughly aroused, got out of bed, and going toward the window fired three shots in the direction from which the blows of the pick were delivered. Hearing no further noise, but thinking that perhaps the intruder might again return, Mr. Zeal sat up the balance of the night and watched for the burglars. When daylight came he went outside to see if there were any clews around that might lead to the apprehension of the thief, when he was surprised to find the burglar's dead body just under the window, with a ball through his heart. Mr. Zeal thinks the last shot he fired was the fatal shot. As the dead man was known as a bad character, Mr. Zeal, who surrendered himself at once, has no fear of the consequences.

DEFENDING KISSANE.

What a Southern Admirer Says of His Career.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Judge Alexander Walker, in a letter to the Evening Chronicle, after recounting the recently discovered facts concerning W. K. Rogers, says: "Two of our most respected citizens, gentlemen of the highest honor and of records for chivalric bearing and valorous conduct in most trying emergencies of military service, were brought into close relations with Col. Rogers during his service with Gen. Walker. They bear testimony to his good conduct in that service, his efficiency, promptness and fidelity to duty and his chivalric and honorable bearing on all occasions. He was one of a group of the chief officers of Gen. Walker who came to this city after the surrender of Walker's command. Whilst here he bore himself with manly dignity and propriety. His only departure from this course of conduct was his acceptance of a challenge and a hostile meeting on the field of honor forced upon him by Col. Henry, whom he wounded in a fair and honorable duel at Bay St. Louis. In the affair a gentleman now residing in this city acted as second and will bear testimony to the honorable bearing of Rogers. Gen. Walker, who was the soul of honor, in the history of his expedition, refers in highly complimentary terms to Rogers' official service whilst with him in Central America, referring to the exhibition of high traits of honorable and manly character which have been conspicuous in Rogers' career. After his removal to the Pacific slope it is stated that other evidence is furnished of the good conduct and manly qualities of Rogers, which may be pleaded least in mitigation, if not in full condonation of the alleged misdeeds of his youthful days."

A MINE DISASTER.

Eighteen Men Suffocated in a Coal Pit in Indian Territory.

KANSAS CITY, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] A special to the Times from Vinita, I. T., says: "A terrible explosion occurred today at Savanna, in coal shaft No. 2, by which six miners were killed. A rescuing party was soon organized and sent down into the mine, but were overpowered by gas. Twelve were suffocated before they could be taken out, making eighteen dead in all. The mines are worked mainly by foreigners, and most of the victims are Italians. Fuller particulars have not been learned here."

RHODE ISLAND POLITICS.

The Republicans Divided and the Result Doubtful.

PROVIDENCE, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The election in this State tomorrow will be for State officers and members of the Legislature and on the question of the woman suffrage amendment to the Constitution. There are three tickets in the field, the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition and in the city of Providence an Assembly Labor candidate. The great issue in the canvass is the fight of one element of the Republican party against the political management of the campaign of Gov. Wetmore by ex-Postmaster Brayton and the mismanagement of the prohibitory law by the latter. The Republican party is dangerously divided and the Democrats are hopeful of victory. The unknown quantity, a third party, is of course a thing that upsets close calculations, but tonight all the prominent Republicans claim that this is an election by Legislature. Democrats assert that they will carry the State and elect Davis Governor. A majority of the total vote is required to elect, and in the event of no election by the people it goes to the Legislature.

J. Marion Brooks's Movements.

SAN BUENAVENTURA, April 5.—J. Marion Brooks, United States District Attorney for the Southern District of California, today forwarded his resignation as member of the Assembly from Ventura and Kern to the Speaker of the House. Tomorrow Brooks goes to Los Angeles to take the oath of office as United States District Attorney. He also resigned the town attorneyship of San Buenaventura.

At a meeting last night the town trustees called a special election for April 28th to vote upon the issuance of $13,000 for sewering the town.

John Refuses to Wash.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 5.—The inhabitants of this city are in a predicament owing to the Chinese laundrymen shutting down. This action on the part of the Celestials was caused by the city trustees passing an ordinance a short time ago specifying that no wash-houses should be conducted within the fire limits of the city. The Chinese are loth to move, and declined to do washing, to see what effect the experiment will have on the community.

Incendiaries Active at Santa Rosa—Large Defalcations at San Francisco—Chinese Smallpox Not Alarming to the Health Authorities at the Bay.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN RAFAEL, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Fire took place yesterday afternoon in the sash and door factory at the San Quentin State Prison. The blaze was discovered by Charles Calhower, a Nevada City convict. He gave the alarm, and almost immediately the prisoners rushed from every quarter and began the work of extinguishing the blaze. The prisoners worked with energy and several of them were almost suffocated, but were rescued by their companions. The fire was under control in half an hour. The prison officials believe that the fire was caused by the intense heat of one of the steam-pipes in the drying-room which set fire to the wood surrounding it. The loss is nearly $4000. The building in which the fire occurred is on the site of the frame structure, which was completely destroyed by fire on the 28th of February, 1876.

SAN FRANCISCO.

More Arrests for Fraudulent Land Surveys—Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Two more arrests were made today in the fraudulent land survey cases. They were George W. Baker on one charge of conspiracy, and George H. Perrine, on six charges of conspiracy, and one of perjury. Both are surveyors. The latter was arrested at Los Angeles, and will be brought here for trial. Reilly and Slack, arrested yesterday, and Baker, have been released on bonds of $2500 on each charge.

About $3000 of this amount belonged to the order, the remainder having been borrowed from Shirmier's friends and relatives at various times. The absconder has been connected with the Red Men nearly twent-five years, and has been secretary fourteen years. It is announced that a warrant has been issued for his arrest for embezzlement.

A SUSPENDED OFFICER.

Capt. Selfridge the Victim of an Unfortunate Affair.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Among the passengers quarantined on the steamer City of Peking is Capt. T. O. Selfridge, late commander of the United States war-ship Omaha, who is en route to Washington under suspension caused by the unfortunate affair which occurred at Japan, March 4th, while he was in command of the Omaha. The vessel had been engaged in shell practice off the island of Ikeshima, twenty-five miles from Najasoki, and the officer in charge reported that all the shells had exploded. Shortly after, however, while a group of Japanese were examining a shell which had been fired from the Omaha, it exploded, killing four and wounding seven. On learning these facts Rear Admiral Chandler placed Capt. Selfridge under suspension and ordered him to leave on the first steamer and report to the Secretary of the Navy.

THE SMALLPOX.

The San Francisco Authorities Take Things Very Coolly.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] A special meeting of the Board of Health was called for this morning to consider what action should be taken to prevent the spread of smallpox from the case brought here yesterday from Hong Kong by the steamer City of Peking. No quorum was present and no formal action was taken. Dr. McAllister stated that as no new cases had appeared for fifteen days he thought that all passengers might be allowed to land in three or four days after a thorough fumigation without danger. The conference ended with the understanding that action as outlined above would be taken.

The latest report from the steamer City of Peking states that only one case of mild variolold exists on board, and that there is no danger of the disease spreading.

A STEAMER SUNK.

Five Persons Drowned in the Spokane River.

SPOKANE FALLS (Wash.), April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The steamer Spokane struck on a drift in the Spokane River a short distance from Kingston this morning and sunk. Five lives were lost—J. C. Hanna, of Spokane Falls; N. J. Piggins, of Bangor, Me.; Lorenzo S. Pike, representing Hegele & Co., of Portland; Edward Jerome, of Lewiston, and one man unknown. Nineteen passengers were on board at the time of the accident, and those saved had a narrow escape from death. Everything possible is being done to recover the bodies.

FIRE-BUGS.

Incendiaries Again at Work at Santa Rosa.

SANTA ROSA, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] At 11:30 last night fire was discovered in a row of wooden cowsheds and outhouses in the rear of Allen & Wheeler's grocery store and Piggott's photograph gallery, on Third street. The buildings were entirely destroyed. Loss, $2500; insurance, $1500. About the same time fire was discovered in the ruins of the Santa Rosa House, which was gutted by fire on Friday night. The blaze was soon extinguished. Both fires were undoubtedly of incendiary origin, as the smell of coal-oil was very noticeable in both instances.

A Lone Highwayman.

COMPTONVILLE, April 5.—Last evening Charles Turner was stopped by a masked highwayman, about four miles below here on the Marysville road. The man was armed with a breech-loading shotgun. Turner had nothing of much value on him, and was permitted to go on. This makes the second robbery near here within the last two weeks. A lone highwayman robbed the Marysville and Comptonville stage about two weeks ago, but was apprehended the following day, and is now at Marysville awaiting trial.

AUBURN, April 5.—The Forest Hill stage was stopped by a masked man about a mile and a half above town today and robbed of the Forest Hill and Butcher ranch mail pouches. The highwayman covered the driver, Cornelius Reese, with a shotgun and demanded the Wells-Fargo box, but it was not surrendered. Officers are in pursuit of the robber.

THE RAILWAYS.

Suppressing Scalpers—The New Law in Force.

NEW YORK, April 5,—[By the Associated Press.] Despite the scoffs of those who have watched the hitherto futile attempts of the great railroad companies to do away with ticket-scalping, the trunk lines seem determined to enforce the recent order stopping the payment of ticket commissions. Today at a meeting at the office of Commissioner Fink the general passenger agents of the trunk lines decided not to issue any through tickets over any connecting line which refuses to join in the compact or fails to enforce the new rule. There were present the general passenger agents of the Pennsylvania, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, New York Central, West Shore and Erie.

THE NEW LAW IN OPERATION.

The Interstate Commerce Law went into effect today, and, so far, no difficulty in regard to the new rates has arisen. At the office of the Trunk Line Association in this city it was stated that the new rule was working satisfactorily, but that some interests would be sure to conflict. These, however, were so trifling that they could easily be settled by the agents.

W. L. Malcom, general eastern agent of the Santa Fé road, and W. E. Hall, general eastern agent of the Southern Pacific, state that the law is working evenly. The new rates have been posted in the depots according to law, and the traveling public can see at once what the various classifications are. The abolition of the free-pass system is favorably received by that portion of the public that did not come under the privileges of the deadhead rule, now defunct.

Coal at San Luis Obispo.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 5.—What appears the most important strike ever made in this county was made last evening in the discovery of coal in the suburbs of this city. The supervisors recently let a contract to run a tunnel near the County Hospital, and yesterday at a depth of seventy-five feet the workmen came upon a body of good coal. A quantity was taken out, tested and found excellent. The extent of the deposit is not yet ascertained, but it is thought to be quite large.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—[Special]. Postmaster W. J. Bryan, John P. Irish and John F. Swift have been appointed commissioners to select and purchase a site for the new San Francisco postoffice. Their appointment is a surprise, none of them having been candidates. The names most urgently pressed here for these commissionerships were William T. Coleman, J. B. Statson, Adam Grant, Gen. T. J. Clunie, Frank G. Newland, Col. Eldridge and nearly one hundred others.

THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The Interstate Commerce Commission has selected as permanent quarters the fifth floor of the Sun building. Col. Werthington, general counsel for the Richmond and Danville system; Maj. Sheiman, traffic manager of the Central Railroad and Braking Company of Georgia, and Vice-President Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company, appeared this morning, each in behalf of his own corporation, to file the necessary formal petitions for relief. In each case the purpose of the petitioners is to secure a suppression of the operations of the long and short haul features of the law.

The Interstate Commere Commission went into secret session and considered the petition presented by the Southern Railway and Steamship Association asking relief from the operations of the long and short haul clause. Although no final conclusion was reached, the discussion indicated that the provisions of this clause of the law will be temporarily suspended as respects those roads pending a full hearing of their cases. It is probable that a decision will be arrived at tomorrow, and that a public announcement will be made if a conclusion is reached.

OATMEAL FOR OPIUM.

A claim has been presented at the Treasury Department for the refunding of money paid for seized property sold as opium, but which proved to be nothing but oatmeal. The sale was made by the Collector of Customs at Portland, Or., and the innocent purchaser was a Chinaman named Sue Balk. The seizure consisted of thirty-nine small cans, each of which were designated as prepared opium, and all were sold as such at the rate of $6 per can. Of this number twenty-nine cans contained oatmeal, which was worth about $1, for which purchaser paid $170. The question presented is: Shall the collector be directed to refund the money?

THE CABINET MEETING.

All members were present at the Cabinet meeting today. The question considered was in regard to the transfer of certain hostile Apaches to the public reservation near Mobile, Ala. The effect of the failure of the General Deficiency Bill upon the business of the Government during the remainder of the present fiscal year was informally considered. A statement will be prepared, showing the exact situation of affairs in this regard in each department.

Boyton Starts Down the Hudson.

HUDSON (N. Y.), April 5.—Capt. Paul Boyton, the navigator, started on his voyage at noon today. He entered the water at this point, and his destination is New York. At the starting point there was not much floating ice in the Hudson, but above that there was acres of heavy ice coming down, and a freshet had caused quite a rapid current. Boyton was followed by a boat carrying press reporters. It is expected that it will take at least four days to make the voyage. The temperature of the water was a trifle above the freezing point, and the air was chilly. Mountain streams were pouring in ice and water, and contributed to the discomfort of the trip.

—TOWN OF—

CLAREMONT!

The Leading Town-site on the Great Santa Fe Route,

Between San Bernardino and Los Angeles; 25 miles from San Bernardino and 30 miles from Los Angeles; 3 1-2 miles northeast from Pomona.

In offering this beautiful town, we have made prices that are sure to advance 50 to 100 per cent. inside of thirty days.

Claremont is like the "City set upon the hills; it cannot be hid." It overlooks one of the most picturesque and charming landscapes in the world. The Sierra Madre Mountains are its background. Nowhere are the peaks more lofty or the scenery grander. The soil is exceedingly fertile, the water marvelously clear, pure and near the surface. Artesian wells pouring forth their liquid wealth will furnish what is valued more highly than gold or silver.

Giant live oaks scattered over the slope exceed in beauty the famed English parks. Fruitful orchards of apricots, peaches, prunes, oranges, lemons and olives cover miles of the adjacent country. The whole picture is a scene of loveliness unsurpassed in California.

Claremont will be only one hour's ride from Los Angeles. The great Santa Fe Railroad is deeply interested in its welfare, and it is believed that Claremont will be the great fruit-packing and shipping depot of this fertile region, embracing thousands of acres of the finest fruit land on earth.

The tract is subdivided most liberally, the majority of the lots being 50 feet front and 150 to 180 feet deep; the business lots 25 by 170.

The streets are graded. A first-class depot will be erected at once. The track-layers are already at Claremont. In a few days the great overland trains of the Santa Fe route will pass to and fro.

The sale of lots will begin on Thursday, the 7th of April, by W. H. Holabird, in the office of the Pacific Land Improvement Company in Claremont. Pomona is the nearest railroad station on the S. P. R. R.

Terms of sale—One-third cash, balance in six and twelve months, with interest at 8 per cent. A discount of 20 per cent. will be made from the schedule of prices, with 5 per cent. additional discount for all cash. We reserve the right to withdraw this discount at any time after Thursday, April 7th, and will positively withdraw it May 1st.

Considering the charming location, a fine depot to be built immediately, a first-class hotel (plans for which are now being made), and an abundant supply of pure artesian water, our prices for lots make a purchase an investment of great promise. Prices will advance 25 per cent. May 1st.

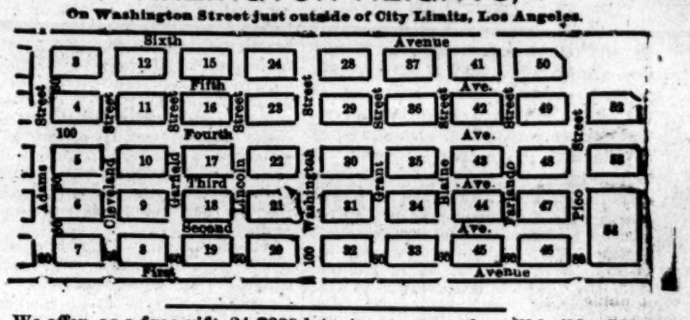
ARLINGTON HEIGHTS,

On Washington Street just outside of City Limits, Los Angeles.



We offer, as a free gift, 24 $300 lots to any one who will build a $20,000 hotel; also, one $300 lot to any purchaser of a lot who will build a $1250 house on ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

The elevated plateau of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS terminates in a ridge or descent of 80 feet just south of Adams street, and in a similar ridge north of Pico street. On these ridges are located the most magnificent building sites in Los Angeles. No houses can ever be built high enough in front of them to obstruct that glorious view of mountain, valley and ocean; from Catalina Island to San Jacinto Peak, and down again over the broad acres, orchards and vineyards, of fair Los Angeles Valley, to the blue waves of the Pacific Ocean beyond the coast of Santa Monica. Whosoever wishes for a beautiful home, sheltered from the noise and bustle of a busy city, but within a twenty minutes' drive of the Plaza, should select in ARLINGTON HEIGHTS a lot of 5½ acres whereon to build his house.

Our map shows a magnificent subdivision of it into 5½-acre blocks, 660x360 feet, including streets, each containing 24 lots 50x150 or 200 feet, and each surrounded on all sides by streets 60, 80 or 100 feet wide. Investors who are able to appreciate the importance of a well-planned subdivision will foretell a great future to this tract, with its miles of wide streets, intersecting each other at right angles. The elegant lawns and stately mansions of the rich will be found here within a short time, and purchasers who take advantage of our low prices an easy terms will reap a golden harvest of their investment in ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

Two hundred lots for sale; price $100 upward; size, 50x150. Also, 5-acre lots at $500 per acre, upward. Free ride daily at 10 a.m and 2 p.m. from Westminster.

NO BOOM, BUT STEADY GROWTH.

WESTMINSTER, April 2.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The boom which extends over the rest of the county does not reach Westminster. We have not the material for it in sightly townsites and railroad extensions, which are material elements, yet we feel the influence of it in purchases by parties who have sold out elsewhere. The twenty acres formerly owned by J. W. Silkwood has changed hands twice, and is now owned by J. R. Swayze. P. Wolfe has sold his remaining twenty acres to W. W. Martin, of Tustin, for $825, who buys, it is understood, in the interest of Mrs. Tunison. F. J. Rogers has sold twenty acres of peat land for $2500 to L. Jefferson, lately from Norwalk. This peat land will yet become the most valuable land in California, and its present price will be doubled and trebled in a short time.

Joseph Caldwell finished the Giberson well at 185 feet, securing a two-inch open flow. Also the Turner well at 230 feet, with same flow. He also started a well for J. R. Swayze, but after boring 90 feet, Swayze purchased the adjoining Silkwood property, with large well, and stopped work on the new one. The pipe was cut near the bottom at a water-bearing stratum, and he secured a one-inch flow, equal to about 3000 gallons per hour, at a cost of $100. Fifty dollars more will construct an 8000-gallon storage tank, and the discharge will carry a large stream three or four times a day to the farthest point of his 30-acre alfalfa field. This success makes a little stir on that ridge, where the wells have been deeper than elsewhere. Four such wells can be bored at the cost of one well 250 feet deep. It seems also to settle the point of cheap water on small places in that excellent neighborhood.

Your correspondent rode last week through the foothill towns, beginning at Ramona and ending at San Dimas and Pomona. The whole strip was a veritable llano estacado, towns and townsites nearly touching each other, and surveyors at work setting more white stakes at every eligible location. The outlooks are beautiful for all of them. The new San Dimas has the advantage not only of a sightly location on the railroad, but has the famous Mud Springs country around it. No wonder the "tenderfeet" and the capitalists, and the sick and weary tend that way. But the time is coming when a throng will come this way, also, to devote their energies to feed these towns for valuable considerations. There is room for development also here. If your correspondent had the favorable ear of some syndicate of capitalists, he could indicate a motor railroad and land investment on these plains that would bring returns second to none of the vast enterprises now being undertaken above us. This will be carried out, but the profits could be largely increased by prompt action. Lands are steadily rising, though prices of productive lands sound absurdly low to foothill residents. People who come to the State not simply for a place to live, or for a speculation, but for a healthy place that will give a living and make a sure growth in value, should not go away without seeing Westminster. Riverside.

THE SUICIDE—HORTICULTURAL FAIR.

RIVERSIDE, April 4.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] A man employed in the California Southern freight depot, known as John H. Klein, committed suicide by shooting himself in the forehead with a revolver at about 7:30 Saturday morning. Despondency is thought to have been the cause. It is found that he had a wife and children in Germany; that since his recent marriage to a young woman at the Rincon he had received letters from his German wife, which were found in his pockets unopened. It is understood that the fear of her coming to this country and the consequent discovery of his crime has so preyed upon him as to lead him to the act. He was a special police officer and has made it so hot for the tramps that they have threatened to kill him. He was a very efficient officer and railroad man. He was a soldier in the Franco-Prussian war, and served with credit in the Union army during the rebellion. His remains were taken in charge by the Grand Army Post here, and buried on Sunday. The young lady who married him under the belief that he was a single man, is nearly wild at the sad development.

The indications point to a full attendance at the State Horticultural Convention, to commence here next Monday, many of the prominent fruit men of the State having given notice of their intention to be present. A fine display of fruit and flowers will be made at the Pavilion.

Arbuckle and local talent give an entertainment in aid of the G. A. R. Post, on Friday evening.

The fine new church of the Congregationalists is fast approaching completion, and is much admired.

Anaheim.

[Anaheim Gazette, April 2.]

It is said that work has been temporarily suspended on the McFarland oil wells, pending the receipt of some necessary tools from the East.

The shipment of wine from Anaheim has been rather brisk in the past few weeks. Mr. Gade and W. Champlin, the draymen, are engaged in hauling the wine to the depot for shipment. Several carloads have already been forwarded to eastern points.

The graders in the Santa Ana cañon have moved their camp to the land of Prudencio Yorba. As the grading of the road between San Bernardino and Los Angeles will be completed in three or four days, the entire force will be transferred to the Los Angeles and San Diego line.

The marriage of Edwin Clark, teacher in the Anaheim public school, and Miss Mary H. Smith, daughter of W. J. Smith, of Orangethorpe, was solemnized last evening. The bride and groom are well known and popular here, and there is no one in the community who will not wish them a long and happy married life. The Gazette wafts them its best wishes, and figuratively sends after them a shower of rice, as symbolical of the good fortune that it hopes may attend them.

The travel on the street-car line is somewhat pleasing to our citizens, and also convincing that it will be remunerative in a short time to those who hold stock in the company. The car is loaded with passengers bound for town with the arrival of each train, and there is always some travel during the day. Let all now expel their doubts as to the successful operation of the car line.

Strangers are coming to Anaheim daily with the arrival of most every train. The class now arriving are coming with a desire to invest in property in our favored locality. As soon as they realize what exorbitant prices are asked for lands in other portions of Southern California in comparison with those ruling here, the influx into this place will be greater than ever before. It is a fact of which we may proudly boast that lands here can be bought for $100 per acre, water-right included in some cases, while in other localities land-owners would not stop to think of selling at prices less than at from $200 to $300 per acre, and even more. Such being the case, this place will evidently "get there" some time, just the same.

Santa Ana.

[Santa Ana Herald.]

The Santa Ana Valley Fruit Company are doing a big business nowadays, working three gangs of men, one at Downey, one at Anaheim and one here, picking and packing oranges. Six carloads were shipped this week, five to the East and one to San Francisco.

Nineteen carloads of oranges were forwarded from the Santa Ana depot this week, eighteen of them destined to eastern markets and one to San Francisco. This is the heaviest week's shipment of oranges ever recorded from this depot. Three carloads of raisins also went East this week.

The following were the reports from the Santa Ana station for the week ending March 31st: Eggs, 71 cases, 4,260 pounds; fowls, 7 coops, 1,190 pounds; oranges, 5963 boxes, 402,360 pounds; limes, 13 boxes, 250 pounds; nursery stock, 1 car and 247 packages, 29,840 pounds; wine, 20 barrels, 14,720 pounds; raisins, 3673 boxes, 84,610 pounds; general merchandise, 29,900 pounds; total, 546,080 pounds.

There is promise of an abundant fruit crop throughout the valley this season. Peach, pear, prune, apricot, nectarine and other trees are loaded with blooms. Grapevines are putting out finely, and the crop will probably be very heavy. There has never been a time when the magnificent orange orchards of the Santa Ana Valley looked in such fine condition. The trees are literally covered with blossoms. It seems to be really the case that in a semi-dry year the fruit crop of the valley is especially abundant.

For Burns and Scalds.

A burn is caused by the application of dry heat; a scald by hot steam or water. Burns are of three kinds: First, simple or superficial, where only the epidermis is injured; second, where the burn extends into the flesh and facia, muscles and tendons; third, where it extends through to the bone. The danger from a burn depends more upon the amount of surface covered than upon the depth or severity. The first pain from a burn can be relieved by using common baking soda, or the bicarbonate of soda, powdered dry over the surface. Or a saturated solution of the soda may be made and strips of cloth be wrung from the solution and laid over the burn. The strips should be kept on from a half hour to two hours, or until the intensity of suffering is relieved. Renew them whenever they become dry. Afterward, if the burn is a large one, use an absorbent dressing made by covering gauze with ointment or soft grease. Apply to the burn and cover with absorbent cotton, held in place by a bandage. This makes a clean dressing where suppuration follows the injury, as the cotton absorbs the pus and secretions and keeps the surface clean.

Another dressing which is much used where there is a large surface burned, consists of equal parts of lime-water and linseed oil, and is called carron oil. Strips of cloth should be wrung out of this and applied, covering with oiled silk or paper, and held in place with a bandage, or a towel pinned closely around the part. But there is no dressing so soothing and at the same time healing as the Balm of Gilead salve, the receipt for which has been given in a previous article. Apply it the same as the carron oil, renewing only once in 24 hours.

Scalds may be treated the same as burns; sweet oil, vaseline, cream and whites of eggs, all form excellent dressings for burns and scalds. The chief object of all is to relieve the pain by excluding the air.

Cassava, a Florida Crop.

Cassava, from the roots of which starch can be made much more successfully than from potatoes, is a Florida crop that can be banked on. Like cowpeas, it is almost a necessity for those engaged in the growth of cattle. Intelligent Floridians have told me that more cassava can be raised as food for live stock than can be produced in hay on the best land in any northern state; that it contains more nutriment than either timothy or clover. It roots are used by natives here for puddings. It is adapted to the poorest soil, and is always welcome as food for cattle. A man who has tried cassava-raising says:

"Enough can be raised on five acres to fatten from 75 to 100 head of cattle for the market, and they will be as finely flavored as any Ohio corn-fed stock. Hogs like it, and fatten on it rapidly; and it seems to be admirably suited to table uses as a substitute for the white potato. In the West Indies it is dried and ground into flour. Its method of cultivation is not difficult. It should be planted in hills four feet apart, so as to be worked by harrow both ways. Deep cultivation will not answer, as it interferes with the lateral roots, which are a foot or more in length. It should be planted in February or March, having been first cut in lengths—the tops only—of two or three inches, and covered about four inches below the surface of the ground. There will be about 3,000 hills to the acre, and, as each hill will yield probably fifteen pounds, the product would be 45,000 pounds—over 20 tons. This will fatten three sets of 1,000 cattle each during a single year, the net profit on which would reach about $10,000."—Florida Cor. Cincinnati Enquirer.

Drinking Toasts.

In private life toasting has almost entirely disappeared. A hundred years ago and less it was rife in the extreme. Half a dozen men could not sit down to dinner without drinking toasts. In the event of any great victory there was no end of it. The nation was for a time half insane in drinking the health of Nelson, Wellington, or other successful commanders by sea and land. It was part of a young man's education to get familiar with a few toasts which he could bring out when called upon in turn at evening entertainments. At the age of fifty he had become so hackneyed in toasting as never to be at a loss for a hero or for a sentiment suitable to the character of the company. At the very least he could give, "The rising generation," "All ships at sea," or, "May the wings of friendship never lose a feather."

Curious, and not a little melancholy to think, what vast numbers of worthy people now gone to their rest habitually killed the time in soaking and trying to amuse themselves in this kind of driveling nonsense. As yet the popular mind has not been aroused to inquiry on a variety of important questions. A great part of life was consumed in dawdling and drinking, as is still the case among certain classes in small country towns.

Discountenanced in general society, complimentary toasting holds its ground in public festivities. There the libations are observedly copious, as provocative of oratorical display, and as much attended with senseless uproar as ever. Corporation dinners, charity dinners, reception and farewell dinners are all alike in these respects. Every toast must be prefaced by a drink all round. The quantity of champagne consumed on some occasions is immense, the removal of a wagon-load of empty bottles not at all unusual. What may be the different degrees of intoxication we shall not attempt to specify. One would not like to be too severe in a matter admitting of many extenuations. At the same time we may be permitted to say that the example set at these festive demonstrations is not quite in accordance with the solemn counsels ordinarily uttered on the evils of intemperance. Men in high position, who are nimble at toasting at grand dinners, do not seem to perceive that they are acting inconsistently in holding out a bad example to the poor, whom they are constantly lecturing on the terrible consequences of misexpenditure on drink.

How to Cure Sleeplessness.

Says a writer in the Fortnightly Review: When sleeplessness is troublesome relief should be sought for in the discovery and removal of the cause, whenever possible. The condition is often due to indigestion, and, when this is the case, the ordinary remedies for inducing sleep are worse than useless. The nervous relations between the brain and the stomach are so intimate that disorder of the one organ is almost certain to affect the other. Excitement, worry, and anxiety, which have their seat in the brain, interfere with the functions of the stomach, and in like manner anything that unduly taxes the power of or irritates the stomach disorders the circulation and nutrition of the brain. The sleeplessness often complained of by gouty persons is due to the poisonous effect of the morbid material upon the nervous system. Excessive smoking, too much alcohol, tea and coffee, often resorted to by overworked persons, are frequent causes of sleeplessness. In all these cases the cause is removable, while the effect may be counteracted by appropriate treatment. Nothing is more mischievous, however, than to continue the habits, and to have recourse to drugs to combat the effects. A due amount of exercise tends to induce normal sleep, and such exercise need not be of a violent character. A walk of two or three miles daily is sufficient, and is perhaps as much as a busy man can find time for. A ride on horseback, the Palmerstonian cure for gout, is probably the best form of exercise for those whose minds are constantly at work. It has been well said that a man must come out of himself when in the saddle. He is forced to attend to his horse and to notice the objects he meets. Walking may be a merely automatic process, and afford little if any relief to the mind, and carriage exercise may be practically valueless, if the mind is not diverted from what had previously occupied it.

Intelligence of a Trained Horse.

That a horse is endowed with intellectual reasoning power was demonstrated at a rehearsal of the W. C. Coup & Hadfield trained horses at Chicago recently. Professor Castello was teaching the dancing stallion "General Sherman" a burlesque on "Romeo and Juliet," and was directing him from a raised platform made to resemble the balcony scene. A three-year-old child of Dr. Young's was present with its father, and as the animal raised on his hind feet and placed his fore ones on the railing of the supposed balcony, the little one dropped an apple which bounded under the horse. She scrambled after it as the cue was given for a change of position. The animal let the cue pass unnoticed and retained his posture until the little one was removed, when it ran to its trainer to be patted, as if conscious of having accomplished something more noble than play-acting.—Chicago Herald.

OCCIDENTAL

PRESBYTERIAN UNIVERSITY

Pure Air is Health for the Body. Education is Health for the Soul,

And the opportunity to secure both is rarely offered. It can be found now by buying a lot in the

OCCIDENTAL HEIGHTS TRACT!

A subdivision of the donation lands of the great Presbyterian College, whose foundations are now being laid.

—THE—

Occidental University!

SITUATED JUST OUTSIDE THE CITY LIMITS,

On the east, on a high plateau, commanding most delightful views in every direction. Free from the fogs which prevail in the western portion of the city, and receiving daily a delightful sea-breeze uncontaminated by the smoke and smells of the city.

The proceeds of these lots form the building fund of the University, and they are put on the market at a low price to insure immediate sale. The land is level as a floor, situated near the end of Stevenson avenue, which will soon be the most imposing street in the city, and upon which responsible parties are now under bonds to construct a STREET RAILROAD within a short time. The purest soft water may be had at depth of 30 feet, and arrangements are being perfected for an abundant supply of pure mountain water to be piped to the tract.

It is the intention of the trustees to open the College for the reception of students next fall with the ablest faculty in the State; and the moment its halls are open for instruction the value of these lots will increase five-fold. This is a chance that occurs but once in a lifetime. A chance to secure a delightful home, with pure water, pure air, soul-inspiring scenery and the highest possible grade of education at your very door, and all within a short street-car ride of the business portion of the city. What can any mortal ask for more?

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
Los Angeles, Tuesday, April 5.

The price of Eggs was put up again today, 22@30 cents being the quotations.

A Chicago special has the following on the Orange market:

"Not much can be said in addition to our last dispatch about California Oranges this week. They are still arriving in quantities sufficient to meet the demand, which is fair for most all varities. Choice Oranges are firm at the following prices taken from the official circular, and are for the California varieties: Bright Riverside, $3@3.50; Santa Ana, $3@3.25; Los Angeles, $2.75@3.25; Navel Oranges, according to quality, $5@6; Duartes, $3@3.50; San Gabriel, $2.75@3; Blood Oranges, fancy, $5@5.50."

The Mark Lane Express in its review of the British grain trade during the past week says:

"English Wheat is tending lower in London, and in a number of provincial markets there has been 6d. to 1s. decline. The feeling of trade is one of extreme depression. Sales of English Wheat during the week were 53,689 quarters, at 33s. 3d., against 61,240 quarters, at 30s. 5d., during the corresponding period last year. The market for foreign Wheat is quite demoralized. The available supplies are already more than ample for the remainder of the cereal year, while the stocks at ports are constantly increasing. The week's receipts of Flour at London are the largest on record for a single week, amounting to 88,037 sacks of American and 15,506 sacks of English. Four cargoes of Wheat arrived; three were withdrawn, and one was sold. Today the Wheat trade was at a standstill. Quotations were nominal. The dealings that were made were at 6d. decline. Flour was depressed. Quotations were irregularly lower. Corn was quiet. Russian Oats rose 6d. Linseed was 5d. higher."

NEW YORK, April 5.—Money on call loaned at 5@7; closed at 6 offered.

Prime paper, 5@6.

Sterling exchange, steady at 4.84¾ for 60 days; 4.88¼ for demand.

Today's stock market was much like that of yesterday, although it failed to reach the heavy total of that day. There was an irregular opening, though the changes from last evening's first figures in no cases exceeded ½ per cent. The market was feverish and unsettled, but generally heavy in the forenoon. Lackawanna, however, was a conspicuous exception to this, and it was joined by Jersey Central toward noon. After that time the market became strong throughout, Reading becoming prominent, and later Western Union. The advance met with no serious setback, and toward the close several specialties advanced sharply. The market closed active and strong at about the best prices of the day.

No. 606—Fine ranch, near city, 107 acres, all level land, fine soil, small orchard; house of 6 rooms, good well, windmill and tank, barn, corrall, shade trees, etc., a bargain for a few days only, per acre 55

One hundred acres very choice foothill land, free from frost; desirable for raising winter vegetables; requiring no irrigation; the finest land in the State; improvements; will divide it; 2 miles from city limits; on payments; per acre 300

This land is susceptible of a high state of cultivation; will produce from two to four crops per annum, owing to the variety planted, such as melons, potatoes, tomatoes, peppers, peas, beans, cabbages, etc.; $100 per acre net profit is but a fair estimate on each crop; this sum was realized per acre the present season from this winter vegetable land; winter tomatoes will yield much more than $100 per acre net, and melons and potatoes will average that amount; we plant tomatoes in August, potatoes in October, November and January, and then follow with melons, on the same ground, which will bring a return of $100 per acre net, without one drop of water; this soil will remain moist the entire year by proper cultivation; ten acres will make a man wealthy in a few years if properly cultivated; must be seen and investigated to be appreciated.

Part of the above tract has recently been sold to parties who will at once erect residences thereon.

Twenty acres on Pico st., at terminus of the electric railroad; suitable to subdivide into lots; for sale at a bargain.

Twenty-three acres near Ellis Villa College; beautiful and elevated; very desirable to subdivide into city lots; the best bargain in Los Angeles; for sale, cheap.

Those fine University lots 65x130 ft., fine soil, very desirable location, having the new University of Southern California, church, store, postoffice, two lines of street cars completed and another line soon to be built; splendid residences, excellent society and the finest drive in the city, at the very low price of $500 to $600 per lot; terms easy; if you see these lots you will purchase them.

A few choice lots on Ocean View ave., Nob Hill tract, cheap.

ALAMITOS BEACH TOWNSITE.

This new seaside resort is located on the Pacific Ocean, 22 miles south of Los Angeles, and midway between the port of San Pedro and Anaheim landing. Alamitos joins Long Beach on the east, and has 10 miles of streets, which are to be neatly graded and lined with trees, and will be abundantly supplied with pure artesian water. An extra quality of pipe clay has been discovered on the townsite, which is now being moulded into pipe that is to conduct the water over the town. Three hundred thousand brick are burned and will soon be used to construct a vast reservoir.

The facilities for hunting, fishing and boating are abundantly supplied by the New River and its broad estuaries.

The elevation of Alamitos Beach, giving a commanding view of the ocean, islands, mountains, harbors and towns, together with its beach, which is unrivaled for its bathing and driving facilities, secures it forever a place in the forefront of seaside resorts. Write for agency and maps to

TWO FRIENDS MEET.

"Hello! old fellow. What have you been doing to yourself? You look like a subject for the undertaker," exclaimed the man on the right.

"I have been taking mercury and potash mixtures until they have nearly ruined me," squeaked the old man on crutches.

"And I," said the other, "have been taking the genuine Swift's Specific, which has built me up from the first dose."

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

MRS. BISAZZA.

SHE WRECKS "THE OLD MAN'S" HEART AND GLASSWARE.

The Chicago Restaurant Visited by a Real Chicago Breeze—He Says She's a Fraud; She Says He's a Brute.

During the past few days a well-dressed lady and a very pretty girl, who does not appear to be over 16 years of age, have been noticed in close consultation with the officer on duty at the police station. The two are in the habit of calling at the police headquarters two or three times a day. The mother—for they are mother and daughter—never lets her offspring out of her sight, and the two seem to be very affectionate. They may be seen walking about the streets during the day, and when they are not at the police office they occupy their time in admiring the latest fashions in the shop-windows.

A TIMES reporter, thinking their actions were mysterious, got it into his head the other day that he would shadow them. After walking around for a while, they entered the Chicago restaurant, on South Spring street, and the lady entered into conversation with the proprietor. She became very much excited and left the place in great haste. Here was a faint clew to the woman's strange actions, but how to get at the mystery was a question that could only be answered by capturing the beefsteak man. Yesterday evening the reporter found him alone in his restaurant.

"Who is that lady who came in here the other day in company with a pretty girl?" asked the scribe, walking up to the counter.

"The one who looked like she owned my restaurant?" replied the hash-slinger.

"The very same."

"She is my wife, but she has left my bed and board, and I want peace."

"Well, what does she want? Why is she always at the police station?"

"Oh, she wants everything. She wants money! money! money! and when she don't get it she broke my things up. Do you see that fine glassware on the counter? Well, she came in here and I told her I had a good many bills to pay, and she breaks that fine glass all to pieces. I married her in San Francisco three years ago. My name is S. Bisazza, and her name was Mrs. Finch when I married her. Just before we were married she told me that her husband was dead and buried, and the day after the minister made us one flesh, as he said, she coolly informed me that her first husband was alive and well. I had a good business then, but I did not have it long. She broke me up, and she has busted me four times in the restaurant business, and she will make this the fifth time. She don't want to do anything but spend money, and I tell you what, she knows how to do that to perfection. I came down here a short time ago from the city, and managed to borrow enough money to open this place, and here she is. If she was satisfied to live as I have to live, it would be all right, but she wants the best in the market, and if she does not get it there is trouble. She and her daughter, Eva Finch, can come here and get their meals and I will give them rooms, but I must pay my bills, and I cannot do that and give her all the money she wants. She brought two policemen here the other day and wanted to put me out of my place, but I knew my rights, and you see me here yet. She and the girl came in and packed off enough stuff to feed an army, the other evening, but I did not say anything, for I want peace, but I can see that she has made up her mind to bust me up in business if she can. I don't know whether she was divorced from her first husband or not, but I can't see why she told two stories about it. I don't know what she intends to do and I don't care."

Mrs. Bisazza claims that her husband has failed to provide for her, and she looks like a woman who has made up her mind to fight it out on the same line if it takes all summer.

Dr. Robbins has had several years' experience in the Australian Colonies, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver, and four years in Los Angeles, and hundreds of leading citizens can testify to the wonderful effects of electricity in curing cases of chronic diseases when all else had failed, and therefore all persons suffering should try this new remedy before abandoning all hope. After every medical treatment the patients are given the Massage treatment by persons of their own sex.

The Doctor diagnoses diseases without explanation from the patient, free of charge. His office hours are 9 till 12, 1 to 5, 7 to 9.

BY HIS NEW AND COMPLETE SYSTEM

Of Medicated Inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the Stomach, Liver and Blood, etc. Probably there has never been any system of practice so popular a one that has so completely revolutionized the system of medical practice as the Aerian or Inhalation System, for head, throat or lung affections. The cures effected are simply marvelous, and can be substantiated by the very best citizens of Los Angeles. During the past four years (our residence in Los Angeles) we have endeavored to be conscientious with our patients, and if, upon examination, we find, in our judgment, the case to be of an incurable nature, we unhesitatingly inform the patient or friends. We believe this system to be justifiable and are ready to condemn any physician who would do otherwise.

CATARRH, ETC.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever. The very best references from those already cured.

A FLORAL VENTURE.

The Success Attending a Lady's Experiments in Seed-growing.

[Rural Press.]

We have often alluded to the possibility of paying business in this State in seed-growing. There has, indeed, been quite a little done in this direction by different parties in different parts of the State, and the chance for success in this line to those who have plenty of skill and patience is great. Those who believe there is a field for women in our horticulture will be pleased to learn that perhaps the most prominent seed-grower, measured by the number of varieties of high class seeds produced, is a woman. The Ventura Republican, of last week, gives this very interesting sketch of her work:

One afternoon of this week a Republican reporter called at the residence of Mrs. Theodosia B. Shepherd, on East Main street, San Buenaventura, and was shown through her magnificent flower and seed gardens and greenhouses. The gardens comprise a lot of ground, 200 feet front by 400 deep, and are surrounded by rows of palm and pepper trees, and hedges of heliotropes and passion flowers. Three years ago this garden was a barley field; now it is a perfect paradise that yields its owner $2000 a year, and in three years that sum promises to be more than doubled.

The first place shown us was the fernhouse, where the most rare and tender varieties, including the stag's horn, harefoot, sandwich, sword, davallia tree, asparagus, plumosus and jai l'elegant are growing in the open air, the only shelter being a lath arbor, covered with campsidium and mandavilla vines. In one corner of the fernery is a begonia gilsonia plant, measuring five feet across the top, and the stalk seven inches in circumference. The lady has thirty varieties of begonias, and from one begonia rubra raised $4 worth of seed, and she was compelled to fertilize each flower. On one side of this house are twenty varieties of cactus, embracing five varieties of night-blooming cereus that will soon flower.

From here we proceeded to the greenhouse, and on the way were shown eighteen varieties of violets, 100 of fuchias and fifty of carnation pinks. In the house are ten varieties of primulas, or Chinese primroses, from which she is now growing seeds. Mrs. Shepherd has succeeded, by chance, in obtaining a new variety of primrose. It is from a seed dropped by a Chinese variety, and at first the leaves were a dark green, but are now variegated, the top being cream-colored and the under side pink-tinted. We were also shown twenty-five varieties of Lady Washington geraniums, embracing six Regals.

Next came the bulbs, of which she has 30,000 callas; a freesia bed of 9000 bulbs; hyacinth and narcissus bulbs; another, also, of 28,000, of five varieties, worth at wholesale $1000. These are grown in a space of about one-twentieth of the garden. Also 1000 roots of the Canna chemani, all sold to an eastern florist.

On the west side of the garden we were shown three varieties of the Tacsonia, the aristocrat of the passiflora family—the handsomest flower, we think, in the grounds; also a good-sized camphor tree, which seems to be perfectly at home in this climate.

We were next shown a magnificent [illegible] variety of the [illegible] called verbena—a recent introduction. The trusses of these flowers are nine inches in circumference, and the individual flowers cover a 25-cent piece. The seeds of this flower are grown by Mrs. Shepherd for a New York firm, who are the first to offer seeds of this valuable novelty for sale.

One of the greatest attractions in the garden during the past year, Mrs. Shepherd informed us, has been her "stocks," or gillyflowers. These are in all the more delicate as well as the richer shades, and have baen blooming for the past eight months. These had been cut back about two weeks ago, and are now coming on with a new bloom. A few of the plants are still in beauty, one with magnificent double flesh-colored flowers, measuring two inches across. eastern seedsmen purchase their stock seeds of European growers, paying a high price for pot-grown seeds, and buy with great care, it being a heavy loss to them if the flowers are inferior. That California is the natural home of the stock, and that a superior quality of seed can be raised here from open-grown plants, is beyond question. Mrs. Shepherd experienced great difficulty in introducing these seeds to eastern growers, who at first gave her but little attention, having no confidence in out-door-grown seed, recommended by an unknown grower in California. But knowing it was only a question of time and perseverance, and that in the end they would buy, this energetic and enterprising business woman continued writing and sending flowers, and, as a last resort, sent photographs. Now she has no trouble in disposing of all that can be raised. The lady believes that in a few years Eastern dealers will buy all their seeds of stocks, as well as many other varieties of seeds, in Southern California.

Her specialties are bulbs of Canna Ehemani, calla lilies, seeds of smilax, blue and white Cobea scandens, single dahlias, stocks, apple geranium and double monthly carnations, though she grows an endless variety of other seeds, and finds no difficulty in disposing of all to various large eastern firms, as well as to small ones and retail customers.

The choice collection of carnations, which in about six weeks will be in full flower, will be one of the grandest sights that can be pictured by florists. No other garden in California has such a large collection, there being 400 plants, embracing fifty varieties.

Peter Henderson, the veteran seedsman and florist, in a letter to Mrs. Shepherd, five years ago (in which he encouraged her to grow seeds for sale), writes: "California will, I am certain, fifty years from now, grow seeds for the world. It has all the conditions of soil and climate for seed-growing." We go further, and assert that in twenty-five years Southern California will grow seeds for the world.

For seeds and bulbs the coast climate is the most suitable, as inland everything becomes so dry and parched, the summers being much warmer and the winters more severe. There is no frost severe enough in Southern California to injure tender plants near the sea.

In the near future Mrs. Shepherd proposes to purchase about ten acres of ground and plant it to choice bulbs and seeds for the eastern trade, increasing her varieties and stock. She intends making a specialty of choice amaryllis and cyclamen bulbs, and raising them in large quantities. Her present site, a choice bit of ground on Main street, which will soon be too small for her rapidly-growing business, is weekly advancing in value, and will soon be too valuable for a seed garden.

Mrs. Shepherd does quite a large business in the way of potted plants and cuttings, all of which are guaranteed true to name.

The lady is an enthusiast in her work, and enjoys nothing so much as work among her flowers. It has always been a passion with her. Three years ago she commenced work on her garden as a means of bettering her health, outdoor exercise being recommended, and now says that if she had but to work among her flowers, she would never be ill. Her first conservatory was a very tiny affair, costing $2.50, from which has sprung what will one day be the best-paying industry in Southern California.

The American Florist says that "$4,000,000 worth of flower seeds were imported into the United States from Europe last year." There must have been a like amount invested in bulbs. With but few exceptions, these could be grown in the open air in Southern California.

It's mighty seldom thar's an office so small you can't find a man small enough to fit it.—[Washington Critic.

California Remedies of Sarsfield Remedies Co.
Sarsfield's Remedy for the Blood and Constipation.
Sarsfield's Remedy for Diphtheria and Pneumonia.
Sarsfield's Chronic Ulcer Salve.

These remedies are well known in Central and Northern California, and are now introduced in the southern counties. The MAKING OF CERTIFICATES has related so largely to fraud that the public has naturally grown suspicious of them. But those here referred to are by such prominent citizens, of such irreproachable character, and the cures are so well known, and the witnesses are so easy to reach, that we make the references without any hesitation: Mrs. H. C. GOODRIDGE, 28 Hawthorne street, San Francisco, 9 years a sufferer from chronic ulcers, and her case abandoned by physicians, permanently cured. Certified to by Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, the well-known philanthropist, and president of the Kindergarten Association, San Francisco.
MRS. M. R. ADAMS, formerly of Sacramento, completely cured at the residence of her brother, Benjamin Welch, master car-builder of the Southern Pacific Company, Sacramento, of running sore on the arm of 8 years' standing, and that had nearly sapped her life.
W. S. DOAN, noted inventor of the steam wagon, Sacramento, 23 years of fever sores, cured in 40 days. Certified to by William Guttenberger, ex-City Trustee, Sacramento; Alex. Nelson, John Driscoll and H. G. P. Root, proprietor of the Union Foundry, and others.
JAMES MCCORMICK, vice-president Bank of Redding Shasta county, 8 years' suffering from worst character of rectal ulcer, permanently cured in 2½ months.
W. A. DEAN, brother-in-law of M. H. de Young, of the San Francisco Chronicle, cured of protruding piles and fistula in five weeks.
REV. J. T. HUFF, Turner Station, Or. (refers to Rev. Dr. Frost, Sacramento), cured of BLOOD POISONING of many years by use of the BLOOD REMEDY and SALVE. His letter is a remarkably warm indorsement.

The New Experiment Station Law.

The following is the full text of the Experiment Station Bill as enacted by Congress, and approved by the President:

AN ACT to establish agricultural experiment stations in connection with the colleges established in the several States under the provisions of an act approved July 2, 1862, and of the acts supplementary thereto.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled: That in order to aid in acquiring and diffusing among the people of the United States useful and practical information on subjects connected with agriculture, and to promote scientific investigation and experiment respecting the principles and applications of agricultural science, there shall be established, under direction of the college or colleges, or agricultural department of colleges, in each State or Territory established, or which may hereafter be established, in accordance with the provisions of an act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An Act donating public lands to the several States and Territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts," or any of the supplements to said act, a department to be known and designated as an "agricultural experiment station:" Provided, that in any State or Territory in which two such colleges have been or may be so established, the appropriation hereinafter made to such State or Territory shall be equally divided between such colleges, unless the Legislature of such State or Territory shall otherwise direct.

Sec. 2. That it shall be the object and duty of said experiment stations to conduct original researches, or verify experiments on the physiology of plants and animals; the diseases to which they are severally subject, with the remedies for the same; the chemical composition of useful plants at their different stages of growth; the comparative advantages of rotative cropping as pursued under a varying series of crops; the capacity of new plants or trees for acclimation; the analysis of soils and water; the chemical composition of manures, natural or artificial, with experiments designed to test their comparative effects on crops of different kinds; the adaptation and value of grasses and forage plants; the composition and digestibility of the different kinds of food for domestic animals; the scientific and economic questions involved in the production of butter and cheese; and such other researches or experiments bearing directly on the agricultural industry of the United States as may in each case be deemed advisable, having due regard to the varying conditions and needs of the respective States or Territories.

Sec. 3. That in order to secure, as far as practicable, uniformity of methods and results in the work of said stations, it shall be the duty of the United States Commissioner of Agriculture to furnish forms, as far as practicable, for the tabulation of results of investigation or experiments; to indicate from time to time such lines of inquiry as to him shall seem most important; and, in general, to furnish such advice and assistance as will best promote the purposes of this act. It shall be the duty of each of said stations, annually, on or before the first day of February, to make to the Governor of the State or Territory in which it is located, a full and detailed report of its operations, including a statement of receipts and expenditures, a copy of which report shall be sent to each of said stations, to the said Commissioner of Agriculture, and to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States.

Sec. 4. That bulletins or reports of progress shall be published at said stations at least once in three months; one copy of which shall be sent to each newspaper in the States or Territories in which they are respectively located, and to such individuals actually engaged in farming as may request the same, and as far as the means of the station will permit. Such bulletins or reports, and the annual reports of said stations, shall be transmitted in the mails of the United States free of charge for postage, under such regulations as the Postmaster-General may from time to time prescribe.

Sec. 5. That for the purpose of paying the necessary expenses of conducting investigations and experiments and printing and distributing the results as hereinbefore prescribed, the sum of $15,000 is hereby appropriated to each State, to be specially provided for by Congress in the appropriations from year to year, and to each Territory entitled under the provisions of section 8 of this act, out of any money in the treasury proceeding from the sales of public lands, to be paid in equal quarterly payments on the first day of January, April, July and October in each year, to the treasurer or other officer duly appointed by the governing boards of said colleges to receive the same, the first payment to be made on the first day of October, 1887: Provided, however, that out of the first annual appropriation so received by any station an amount not exceeding one-fifth may be expended in the erection, enlargement, or repair of a building or buildings necessary for carrying on the work of such station; and thereafter an amount not exceeding five per centum of such annual appropriation may be so expended.

Sec. 6. That whenever it shall appear to the Secretary of the Treasury, from an annual statement of receipts and expenditures of any of said stations, that a portion of the preceding annual appropriation remains unexpended, such amount shall be deducted from the next succeeding annual appropriation to such station, in order that the amount of money appropriated to any station shall not exceed the amount actually and necessarily required for its maintenance and support.

Sec. 7. That nothing in this act shall be construed to impair or modify the legal relation existing between any of the said colleges and the government of the States or Territories in which they are respectively located.

Sec. 8. That in States having colleges entitled under this section to the benefits of this act, and having also agricultural experiment stations established by law separate from said colleges, such States shall be authorized to apply such benefits to experiments at stations so established, by such States; and in case any State shall have established, under the provisions of said act of July 2d, aforesaid, an agricultural department or experimental station in connection with any university, college or institution not distinctively an agricultural college or school, and such State shall have established or shall hereafter establish a separate agricultural college or school, which shall have connected therewith an experimental farm or station, the Legislature of such State may apply in whole or in part the appropriation by this act made, to such separate agricultural college or school; and no Legislature shall, by contract, express or implied, disable itself from so doing.

Sec. 9. That the grants of moneys authorized by this act are made subject to the legislative assent of the several States and Territories to the purpose of said grants: Provided, that payments of such installments of the appropriation herein made as shall become due to any State before the regular session of its Legislature meeting next after the passage of this act shall be made upon the assent of the Governor thereof, duly certified to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Sec. 10. Nothing in this act shall be held or construed as binding the United States to continue any payments from the treasury to any or all the States or institutions mentioned in this act, but Congress may, at any time, amend, suspend or repeal any or all of the provisions of this act.

Broom-corn Culture.

[Southern Cultivator.]

According to Chapman, the specific name of broom corn is sorghum saccharatum, which also includes the several varieties grown for syrup-making—Chinese Imphus, etc. The sorghum genus also includes Durra corn, millo maize, Egyptian corn and some others. The nomenclature is rather confused, and botanists differ somewhat in their classifications.

The character and preparation of soil, time of planting and general method of culture that are suited for the ordinary Chinese sugar cane are also adapted to broom-corn culture. So far, then, as planting and cultivation are concerned, the farmer who understands how to cultivate the one will find no difficulty in growing the other.

Very rich land is not indispensable; neither will poor land yield a profitable crop of broom corn or anything else. Light, dry bottom land is excellent for the purpose. Any land, however, that will bring a good crop of Indian corn will yield a corresponding crop of broom corn. Prepare well, and throw up beds three and one-half to four feet apart. When the spring is fully open is the right time to make the first planting. Open very shallow furrows; sow seed by hand, two or three quarts to the acre (if clean and sound); cover not more than one inch. It is very desirable to have the surface of the beds freshly harrowed just ahead of the planting. The "Tennessee Evergreen" is the best and most popular variety.

As soon as the plants are well up cultivation should commence, as the little stalks are delicate and easily choked by grass. A harrow or cultivator is well suited for this first working. When the plants have attained a height of two or three inches they should be reduced to a stand of two to three plants every foot, or twice as many at distance of two feet. The thickness of the stand, or number of plants left to grow, should vary according to the strength of the soil. In the West very little hand-thinning is done, reliance being placed in the planting drill to drop the right number of seed.

Cultivate rapidly until the plants are six inches high, after which period, if seasons are at all favorable, growth will be continuous and rapid. The culture should be shallow, especially in later stages, and continue until the plants are as high as the shoulders of a man.

TIME TO HARVEST.

It should be borne in mind that no broom-maker wants red corn, nor will he pay anything like as much for such as for that of a fine pea-green color. To have it this nice green color the corn must be cut when the bloom begins to drop and before the seed commences to form. (Don't forget this.) Red corn is worth not more than one-third as much as the same corn would have brought if cut at the right time and cured a bright green color. Commence by breaking two rows across each other, about thirty inches high, so as to form a sort of platform. The cutter, with a sharp shoe-knife, cuts off the heads with eight inches of stalk, as near as he can judge, and lays it across the platform or table formed by the stalks. As fast as cut the brushes should be hauled to the drying place, where the first thing to be done is to strip off the seeds and husks. Never haul while the heads are wet with dew or rain, but wait until the latter has dried off. Stripping the brush off the seed may be done by a hand-scraper, or by a machine made expressly for the purpose and run by power. For a small quantity spikes, driven close together in a board or bench, will answer; but for a crop of several acres a machine thresher, something like the ordinary spike grain thresher, costing from $25 to $60, according to capacity, and run by hand, horse or steam power, is indispensable.

After threshing, the brush should be laid straight in racks, under shelter from sun and rain, the layers to be not more than two or three inches in depth. In broom-corn districts regular dry-houses are built for the purpose. When the brush is perfectly dry throughout stem and hull it is laid regularly into a baling-press, stem ends outward and endwise the bale, lapping the brush ends in the middle as may be necessary. The most approved size of bale is three feet ten inches long by two feet wide and deep, as may be convenient, weighing from 300 to 350 pounds. Care should be used to make the bales solid and secure, so that they will not go to pieces in handling. Steel bale tie wire is prepared and sold in bundles cut to proper lengths. Do not mix good and bad, green and red, straight and crooked brush in the same bale. Most of the large cities in the country now have broom factories, or merchants who handle the crop on commission.

LIVE STOCK.

A Woman Who Is a Cattle Sharp.

[Ben: Perley Poore.]

I was much interested in reading an account of a recent cattle convention at Chicago by the descriptions of the representatives of the great western ranges. There were the agents of the great English cattle syndicate, with the aristocratic-looking men from Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana, who own imported bulls that cost them thousands of dollars, and are the possessors of cows and calves that are worth their weight in gold. But the most interesting one of the crowd, to me, was Mrs. Gen. H. C. Meredith, a handsome woman, who is probably somewhere in the forties. She is described as setting off her handsome figure with stylish clothes, and as having a fine suite of apartments in the Grand Pacific Hotel.

But this woman owns, at Cambridge City, Ind., the finest herd of shorthorn cattle that there is in the State, and breeds, and sells and pushes her business alongside of the best known cattle fanciers in the country. She could discuss constitutional breeding and high-priced beef with any man there. She knows just how an animal's frame should be bred, and just how flat and how round its bones should be; how its ribs should be sprung; how the upper loin should slope, and how the lower. She could tell from its throat-latch whether the animal had a pedigree worth having, and from the shape of its frame around the heart whether it was hardy or sickly. There was not a man among the famous cattle-owners and breeders there who knew these things any better than she, or who had more pedigrees in his head, or who could tell quicker whether an animal was in the "record" or not, or whether it could get in the record.

Gen. Meredith, when he was alive, was one of the pioneer fine cattle breeders in the country. He became rich as the craze for high-priced, imported shorthorns grew, until in the '60s and the early '70s he was worth probably $500,000. He had the Airdies, and paid out $10,000 as readily for a bull that happened to be after his own heart as more conservative men paid out money for good lands with houses on them. But the General went broke when the craze subsided. His son failed after him, but the widow, with all her style and grace, had a better head for business than either the husband or son. She took the herds that were left, and managed them, and where both men failed, she succeeded. Her sale a few years ago was the most successful one in the country with one single exception. Her sleek cattle averaged a price that had heretofore been unheard of. She breeds the "Wild Eyes," and they are known wherever fine cattle are, and her herd of forty head earn her a handsome income every year. Let no one complain that women do not have their "rights," when this woman can take the lead of the great cattle-growers of the Republic, even going ahead of Mr. Sandusky, the richest herder in the Mississippi Valley.

LABOR MUST BE FREE.

A Staggering Blow to the Boycott—A Firm Judge.

[Philadelphia Times.]

The labor leaders who order boycotts and by intimidation and violence seek to prevent others from doing the work they refuse to do themselves, are getting line upon line and precept upon precept in the way of judicial declarations upon the unlawfulness of their methods. The conviction and imprisonment of those who attempted to destroy the business of a New York bakeress last year is still fresh in the public mind, and now the United States courts follow in the same line, declaring that boycotts and all interference with the the business of an employer, either by intimidating his workmen or by threats against those who deal with him, are misdemeanors at common law and render those who engage in them personally liable for all damages arising therefrom.

The Old Dominion Steamship Company recently brought an action in the United States Circuit Court against James E. Quinn and other members of District Assembly No. 49 to recover $20,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained through unlawful interference with the company's business on the part of the defendants. Quinn and his associates were placed under arrest and held to bail, in conformity with the New York State practice. They applied to have the order of arrest vacated, on the ground that they were acting within their legal rights. Judge Addison Brown, of the Circuit Court, after hearing the arguments of counsel, denied the motion, in an opinion declaring all boycotts misdemeanors at common law, as well as by statute. The judge then proceeded to lay down the law regarding associations or organizations. He said:

"Associations have no more right to inflict injury upon others than individuals have; all combinations and associations designed to coerce workmen to become members or to interfere with, obstruct, vex or annoy them in working or in obtaining work because they are not members, or in order to induce them to become members, or designed to prevent employers from making a just discrimination, paid to the skillful and the unskillful, to the diligent and the lazy, to the efficient and the inefficient, and all associations designed to interfere with the perfect freedom of employers in the proper management and control of their lawful business or to dictate in any particular the terms upon which their business shall be conducted by means of threats of injury or loss by interference with their property or traffic, or with their lawful employment of other persons, or designed to abridge any of these rights, are illegal combinations or associations, and all acts done in furtherance of such intentions by such means and accompanied by damage are actionable."

This reaches not only the boycott, but all interference with non-union workmen, and makes not only the individuals engaging in the unlawful acts liable, but the organizations to which they belong and under whose authority and encouragement the illegal acts are committed as well. It has taken the Quinns and Irons a good while to find out that this is a country of law and that the law generally has the last word. They are in a fair way to learn it now to their full satisfaction, and it is a cause for congratulation that the men who were the real instigators of the late labor follies are to share in the penalties they have brought on thousands of their ignorant dupes. The latter are suffering from loss of work and wages for having blindly obeyed the orders of leaders who live by fomenting labor disturbances. The leaders themselves could not be punished in the same way, for they do not work at any gainful calling except that of assessing real laboring men for the privilege of being kept out of work. The law can only punish them, which it now promises to do.

We call it the MIRROR HIGH-ARM SEWING MACHINE, and we warrant it to give full and entire satisfaction in every case, or it may be returned to us within ten days after the subscriber has received the same, if it fails to be as respresented, at our expense, and the money will be refunded.

The above cut represents our HIGH-ARM MIRROR SEWING MACHINE, the very latest improved machine of the high-arm style; a complete embodiment of all the most recent improvements in sewing machine mechanism; a model selected by us after a careful and critical examination and test of the various machines in the market.

Having arranged with the manufacturers to supply us with these machines in large quantities for spot cash at or very near first cost, we can save our subscribers at least $25 on the price of each machine. As this is the first time a sewing machine of this character has been offered to the public at about manufacturer's cost, we feel confident our readers will promptly take advantage of this opportunity to provide themselves with first-class high-arm machines, which obtained in any other way would cost them almost three times the amount.

We could fill several columns expatiating on the merits of this high-arm machine, but to save the reader's patience we will simply say that it contains all the modern improvements, is strong, simple, durable, light-running and noiseless.

OUTFIT—Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece), Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, One Wrench, One Quilting Gauge, One Screw Driver, Oil Can filled with Oil, Cloth Gauge and Thumb-screw and a Book of Directions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruffler, Tucker, Binder, Set of Wide Hemmers and Shirring Plate.

The regular retail price of this machine is $75. Our price with a year's subscription to the WEEKLY MIRROR is only $22.

Knowing the character of the machine and the high grade of material and workmanship entering into its construction, we have no hesitation in agreeing to return the money at once to any subscriber who is not fully satisfied on examination that our high-arm machine is fully equal to our representations, we paying freight on return of the machine.

CAUTION—Sewing machine agents will tell you, "Beware of Cheap machines." We tell you, buy the high-arm machine on trial, and if not satisfactory return it. No agent can sell you its equal for less than $75. Each part of the machine is fitted with such exactness that no trouble can arise if any part is broken, for a new piece can be supplied with an assurance of a perfect fit.

The High-Arm Machine is carefully packed and shipped by freight from Chicago.

Freight charges are to be paid at point of delivery by the subscriber.

Give shipping directions plainly, as well as the postoffice; address the paper is to be sent to.

☞ The LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES—Any person desiring the Daily and this Sewing Machine can have the same by mail for $29.

HOW TO ORDER.

When you remit us the $22 for the Machine and WEEKLY MIRROR one year, write plainly the point the machine is to be shipped to, as well as the postoffice the paper is to be sent to. The machine should be ordered to the nearest railroad point where the railroad company has an agent stationed, and the name of railroad station, the county and State should be stated. When $22 are sent for the WEEKLY MIRROR one year and the machine, the freight charges from the factory are to be paid by the subscriber at the point Machine is delivered to.

We would advise subscribers to order machine sent by freight, as the freight charges are about one-third to one-fourth of express charges; and while the time taken in the carrying of the machine is a little longer, they go just as securely and safely as by express. The machines will be shipped direct from the manufactory (Chicago), all set up ready for use. The money must accompany order. Address,

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21, 1886.

Being a resident here and an experienced sewing-machine man, I will take pleasure in instructing any one in working the machine, in this place or vicinity.

"SUPERIOR IN SOME RESPECTS TO THE BEST."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: My wife and daughter are well pleased with your Times-Mirror Sewing-Machine. They have used several of the best makes of machines and yet say your machine is superior in some respects to those they have used, and in no way inferior. They were at first afraid, as many are, no doubt, that it is too cheap to be first-class, but are now satisfied that it is as good as machines costing three or four times as much. Yours truly,

S. A. MATTISON.

"TIGHTENED THE SCREW AND SHE RUNS ALL RIGHT."

NEWHALL, Cal., Nov. 3, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: Yours of the 1st inst. received. Will say in reply that soon after I wrote you I discovered the cause of the trouble. The little tension screw in the shuttle had worked loose and was nearly out, and the shuttle-thread, in sewing fast, would catch on the screw and break. I tightened the screw and it now works like a charm; no more breaking thread or irregularity of stitch. Very respectfully, L. A. MYERS.

"ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS THEY EVER MADE."

ORANGE, Cal., Oct. 22, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: We received our High-Armed Sewing-Machine in good order, and I am very much pleased with it, and consider it one of the best investments we ever made. It is nicely finished, and runs strong and light, doing nice work. Any one needing a good machine I do not think can do better than invest $22 in the machine and MIRROR. Respectfully yours,

MRS. U. L. SHAFFER.

"MORE THAN SATISFIED AND GLADLY RECOMMENDS IT."

ORANGE, Cal., Oct. 22, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: I thank you for sending to us for testimonials, as I had sat my new machine in the parlor, without even threading it, as I was very busy, and had a good machine ready for work I was used to running. So I did not take time to do anything with the new one until I received your letter. Then I brought it out and went to running it to test it. I am more than satisfied, and gladly recommend it to those in need of a machine. I think I would have gained time to have used it long ago. Our little girl wants to write a letter to Mrs. Otis for the children's column. So if it is not worthy of a place there, just drop it in the waste-basket please. As ever,

MARTHA M. SHAFFER

"EQUAL TO ANY $65 MACHINE."
